B52s Bomb Reds' Infiltration Route

SAIGON (AP) — High-flying American B52 bombers blanket the Communist infiltration route through the jungles of South Vietnam, the sector where U.S. forces have recently been under heaviest attack. The heavy strikes on the jungled valley were ordered after tactical bombers hitting the area in the past few days caused several landslides in areas where heavy rains had loosened embankments. The land slides caused Red supply convoys to bunch up at narrow points in the valley.

A U.S. spokesman said immediate assessment of the bomb damage was not available. The busiest 24 hours previously for the B52s was on Feb. 16, when seven raids were mounted.

While the B52s raided west of Da Nang, the U.S. Marines launched a new ground sweep southwest of the big American base and U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara left Washington on his ninth visit to Vietnam.

Although assessment of the U.S. Command's requests for additional troops was believed to be the chief purpose of McNamara's trip, he also was expected to look into the increased danger from North Vietnamese guns and troops near the demilitarized zone, the lagging pacification program, the ineffectiveness of the South Vietnamese army and misuse of the $700 million a year U.S. aid program.

The U.S. Command said several battalions of the 7th Marine Regiment went out looking for enemy soldiers Wednesday in an area 12 miles south-southwest of Da Nang but made no contact in the first day of Operation Elliott 5.

Sporadic ground action was reported Wednesday, but reports to headquarters said 124 Communist soldiers were killed.

Continued their harassing fire on the U.S. Marines south of the demilitarized zone, killing three Leathernecks and wounding 51 barracks on the sandbagged camps at Con Thien and Dong Ha.

The air war against North Vietnam continued unabated with 107 missions flown and two Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs lost to ground fire, making 597 U.S. combat planes reported lost over the North. One helicopter was also shot down over South Vietnam.

The two Thunderchief pilots were missing.

Major strikes were directed at the rail lines leading north from Hanoi to Red China, and Air Force pilots reported shooting up 23 boxcars in yards along the line running northeast from the capital.

Navy pilots from the carriers Intrepid and Bon Homme Richard hit an underground fuel dump 13 miles above Haiphong.

It evidently was a major complex. The smoke from the raid rose 13,000 feet and was visible aboard the carriers 65 miles away in the Tonkin Gulf.

Air Force and Marine pilots also made a major effort against the Communist artillery positions which have been causing heavy casualties to the Marines below the demilitarized zone.

The weekly casualty reported issued by U.S. Command reported a decline in American deaths but the reporting period, which ended last Saturday, did not include the hard fighting since then along the demilitarized zone.

McNamara told newsmen in Washington Wednesday night he would study how many more U.S. fighting men might be needed in Vietnam and check on progress of the pacification effort.

"The military operations continue to show very substantial progress," he replied to a question implying the war has degenerated into a stalemate. But he said there is no equivalent progress in the pacification program.

Some 466,000 U.S. troops now are in Vietnam, and sources in Saigon say Gen. William Westmoreland, the U.S. commander, wants up to 200,000 more.

McNamara's Visit To Saigon Looms As 'Deeper Review'

SAIGON (AP)—The chief issues discussed during Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's visit to Saigon this weekend are expected to be more U.S. troops for the war, what to do about the Communist threat in the northern part of the country, the pacification program, the South Vietnamese army and U.S. aid.

Indications are that McNamara is planning a more searching review than he has made on some of his past trips. The U.S. Command is preparing to fight for plans it considers vital to military victory.

Here is how the major issues shape up:

Troop strength—This is the most widely publicized reason for McNamara's trip. Because of heavy North Vietnamese infiltration, U.S. commanders here want a major boost in manpower above the currently authorized 470,000 men. Military sources say Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U.S. commander, wants up to 200,000 more men than the 466,000 now in Vietnam.

Washington appears ready to boost the limit, possibly to around 550,000. But the Johnson administration is believed concerned because a larger increase will mean calling up reservists, greatly expanding the defense budget, and imposing a terrific strain on the inflation-ridden Vietnamese economy and the hard-pressed U.S. Asian supply line.

The war in the north—U.S. Marines continue to take the heaviest casualties of any force in the country as they man positions below the demilitarized zone. U.S. bombers have not been able to silence the heavy artillery, rocket and mortar fire that has been responsible for most of the 8,000 U.S. casualties in the area so far this year. Some officers say the southern half of the demilitarized zone should be taken or that a sea-

Curb Profits, Slash Rates, A.T.&T. Told

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government has ordered giant American Telephone & Telegraph Co. to curb profits on part of its operations and to slash its interstate rates $120 million a year.

The Federal Communications Commission ordered AT&T Wednesday to operate its interstate and foreign operations—which account for about 25 percent of the company's over-all revenues—within a profit range of 7 to 7.5 percent.

The commission in a unanimous 107-page order also directed the company to submit by Sept. 1 a plan for reducing interstate rates by $120 million a year. The plan is to become effective 30 days later.

AT&T called the FCC order "most disappointing. If allowed to stand for the long pull, this restriction on our earning prospects would inevitably slow down our effort to provide constantly more and better communications service to the public."

State Of Emergency Decreed

Fighting Erupts In Congo After Mercenaries Land

KINSHASA, The Congo (AP)—Fighting was reported on the Congo's eastern border Wednesday as the Congolese government claimed foreign mercenary soldiers had landed at the major cities of Kisangani, Stanleyville and Bukavu.

President Joseph D. Mobutu decreed a state of emergency throughout the country and complained to the U.N. Security Council of aggression by invaders sent from "Western countries." It was widely believed the mercenaries were acting on behalf of ex-Premier Moise Tshombe, who was kidnapped to Algeria last week.

The Belgian consul in Bukavu, on the eastern border north of Tshombe's former stronghold in Katanga province, reported to Brussels that fighting had broken out in the eastern Congo but gave no details.

Mobutu said foreign settlers had attacked the Congolese army in Bukavu and fighting was in progress.

The U.S. consul in Bukavu, Truiston F. Crigler, reported to Washington that the town was "under the control of mercenary-led national army dissidents."

Mobutu reported two plane-loads of foreign commandos had seized the airport at Kisangani, formerly Stanleyville and the biggest city in the northeast Congo, while the government radio claimed foreign mercenaries had parachuted into Bukavu.

Mobutu did not mention Tshombe, but the government radio said Tuesday that 200 Belgian mercenaries were ready to fly to the Congo to try to free the former premier if he was returned to Kinshasa to face a death sentence for treason. Mobutu's government has sent representatives to Algiers seeking Tshombe's extradition.

Authoritative sources in Algiers said they had pieced together the story of Tshombe's kidnapping. They said his chartered plane was hijacked last Friday and forced to fly to Algeria by members of his own entourage who probably wanted to collect a big reward offered secretly by Mobutu's government.

Diplomats in Algiers say Algeria almost certainly will extradite Tshombe if it is convinced of a pro-Tshombe plot on the Congo. Algiers holds Tshombe responsible for the death of the Congo's first premier, leftist Patrice Lumumba.

Assembly Spurs Tax Boost Plans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's lawmakers begin hammering at details of proposed tax increases and legislative reapportionment today, hoping to clear the air on the two major obstacles to final adjournment.

Some still held hope they could call it quits and go home in August but others doubted the assembly could move with such speed and contented a summer recess is more likely.

Sen. Michael J. Maloney R-7 Cincinnati, chairman of the Senate Ways and Means Committee, called for a second hearing this afternoon on the administration's $252 million omnibus tax bill to raise more funds for education.

Maloney said that in all probability he will name a subcommittee to consider the wide range of proposed increases and come up with a "homogenized" package. It is expected that the subcommittee will scrap a proposed 1 per cent gross receipts tax under heavy fire from retailers and consumers around the state.

Chairman Walter L. White R-6 Allen of the House Taxation Committee scheduled the first hearing, meanwhile, on a bill permitting counties to levy up to 5 per cent of utility bills. Revenue from that tax would help counties raise funds for their matching share of higher welfare benefits provided in the administration's budget bill.

Rep. Albert H. Sealy R-84 Dayton, chairman of a "blue ribbon" House committee named to draft legislation revising local tax structures, split his 14-member group into five subcommittees and said they would meet at various times today and Friday.

Purpose of the committee is to revise local taxation to take some of the burden off real estate and personal property, found by the Ohio Tax Study Commission to be carrying more than their share of the load.

Most frequently mentioned at the committee's first meeting Wednesday was a county income tax that would be redistributed under a still undetermined formula to townships and municipalities.

House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess cautioned that any "mandated" reduction in real or personal property taxes will have to be accompanied by a mandated new tax. This could mean that the legislature, in effect, might levy income taxes for the counties but let them collect it.

In other developments, Sen. Robin Turner R-14 said his Elections, Commerce, and Labor Committee would hear testimony today on two reapportionment resolutions.

During an hour-long session Wednesday, the House passed seven bills without major opposition. The Senate approved three and postponed action on a fourth bill.

Six of the House bills were sent to the Senate and action on the seventh completed its enactment. It requires school boards to adopt annual salary schedules for non-teaching employees.

Other House bills create an antitrust division in the attorney general's office, upgrade standards for barbers and members of the Board of Barber Examiners, and conform requirements for independent candidates for the legislature with those for state senators and congressmen. The House changed the barber bill to retain the present requirement minimum education requirement at the eighth grade instead of the 10th as proposed in the bill originally.

Farm Pond Yields Body After Wreck

Columbiana Sailor Becomes County's 15th Traffic Victim

County's 1967 Traffic Toll 15 KILLED This date in 1966—14 killed! NO NEED FOR SPEED

A Columbiana sailor home on leave was discovered in a farm pond Wednesday afternoon, an estimated 14 hours after his car went out of control on Route 14 east of Route 7 and overturned, flinging him into five feet of water.

Robert Paul Cline Jr., 20, of 27 E. Friend St. was westbound on Route 14 about 1:30 a. m. yesterday, the Lisbon Highway Patrol said, when his 1960 convertible went out of control, veered off the left side of the roadway and struck a newspaper box. The auto continued into a field, where it hit a parked vehicle and overturned, coming to rest nine feet from the pond.

The patrol received a call relative to the car at 9:40 a. m. Wednesday. Efforts to locate the driver resulted in the discovery of his body in the water later yesterday afternoon.

The death has been officially ruled a traffic fatality by Dr. William Kolozsi, county coroner. It was the county's 15th traffic death of the year.

Mr. Cline was born in Salem Aug. 27, 1946, a son of Robert P. Cline of Philadelphia and Helen Hicks Cline at home.

He was a 1964 graduate of Columbiana High School and served three years in the Navy as a machinist mate second class. He recently re-enlisted for four years and was home on leave from Norfolk, Va. He was a member of the Columbiana Methodist Church.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by a sister, Mrs. Joseph Bowers of Salem, R. D. 5; the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cline of Columbiana, and the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hicks of Leetonia.

Private services will be held Saturday at 1:30 p. m. at the residence by the Rev. Russell Linton. Burial will be in the Columbiana Cemetery.

There will be no calling hours. The Seederly - Beilhart Funeral Home in Columbiana is in charge of arrangements.

He was born in New Cumberland May 17, 1949, and attended Beaver Local High School.

In addition to his parents, he leaves a brother, Leslie Howard Jones, at home; the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Lottie Halstead of near Chester, and the paternal grandmother, Mrs. Mildred Lane, at home.

The East Liverpool Arner Home for Funerals is arranging services.

Holiday Traffic Toll Now Placed At 732

By The Associated Press
Late reports Wednesday of Independence Day weekend fatalities boosted the holiday traffic toll to 732, within range of the National Safety Council's estimate of 700 to 800.

The statistics broke a record no one wanted to break. The previous high mark for a Fourth of July weekend was 576 during last year's three-day holiday.

The record for any holiday—748—was recorded by The Associated Press during last year's four-day Thanksgiving period.

Assembly Adjourned Until Next Wednesday

Reds Woo Latins At U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union began wooing Latin American members of the United Nations today in an effort to salvage something from the abortive U.N. Assembly session on the Middle East.

Assembly President Abdul Rahman Pazhwak of Afghanistan adjourned the 122-nation forum until next Wednesday to give members a chance to "bring about something that we might be able to refer to as a fruitful result."

Israeli officials, meanwhile, sought to allay a furor roused by Defense Minister Moshe Dayan's statement that the Gaza Strip, administered by Egypt before the June 5 war, would be incorporated into Israel.

Both the Israeli Defense Ministry and the Israeli delegation to the U.N. issued emphatic denials that the government of Israel had made any decision on the future of the strip.

Informed sources said Soviet Ambassador Platon D. Morozov was urging the Latin Americans to try to draft an acceptable compromise resolution from salvageable parts of the rival Latin American and nonaligned proposals which failed to get the needed two-thirds majority in the assembly Tuesday.

The U.N. members split almost evenly over the nonaligned draft, which demanded that Israel pull its troops out of Egypt, Jordan and Syria, and the Latin American proposal coupling a withdrawal demand with a demand that the Arabs end the state of war they have maintained against Israel since 1948. The Russians and the Arabs backed the nonaligned resolution, while the United States and Israel supported the Latin American draft.

Defeat of the nonaligned resolution was another setback for the Soviet Union, which had asked for the emergency assembly session and sent Premier Alexei N. Kosygin to press the Arab case.

There was considerable agreement that any resolution which could be adopted by the assembly would be no more than a general expression of hope for a peaceful resolution of the crisis and that the matter would revert to the Security Council.

Meeting Set For Review Of Newell Street Issues

The Hancock County Court of Commissioners has set July 26 at 2 p. m. as the date of a public meeting in the Courthouse at New Cumberland with Burl Sawyers, West Virginia state road commissioner; other SRC officials; elected county officials and county residents to designate roads in the county which require repairs and to determine who is responsible for the repairs of the specified roads.

The commissioners said the date is tentative and will be changed if it does not fit Sawyers' schedule.

The meeting was set up on a motion by Edward Nogay after a delegation of women residents living on Grant St., Newell, appeared at a meeting of the court Wednesday to appeal for help in determining who is responsible for the upkeep of certain roads in the county and from whom they should request needed repairs.

The delegation included Mrs. Laura Fabbro, Mrs. Grace McCall, Mrs. Ruth Smith and Mrs. Patricia Burch. They are part of a group of women who picketed Washington St. in Newell June 27 to call attention to the condition of Grant St.

Mrs. Burch reported residents have sent petitions and letters to SRC officials and have received only replies that there is nothing wrong with the roads to which they are referring.

She indicated that the residents will notify Gov. Hulett Smith if Sawyer fails to make himself available to the county residents to discuss the roads in Hancock. Mrs. Smith said the delegation desired the County

Area Scouts Will Join In World Rally

Three Boy Scouts from the Columbiana Council will attend the 12th World Jamboree Aug. 1-9 at Farragut State Park in Idaho.

Preparing for the first such rally in the United States are Michael Hannum of Negley, East Palestine Troop 44, and Everett Watson and George Schmidt, both of East Liverpool Troop 12.

The Farragut Park site includes 5,000 acres of open and wooded land jutting into 60-mile Lake Pend Oreille, 25 miles north of Coeur d'Alene.

About 14,000 Scouts and leaders are expected from nearly 100 nations and territories. "For Friendship" is the theme for the jamboree — highlight of world Scouting's 60th anniversary year marked from Lord Baden-Powell's experimental encampment with 22 boys on Britain's Brownsea Island in 1907.

Dates of the two encampments coincide and a recreation of the Brownsea Island camp will be a feature at Farragut Park.

Scouts will have their own fishing area, with 20,000 donated rainbow trout kept in a bay by a 648-foot net to prevent their escape into the lake.

Townships Seek Vote On 3 Levies

Three more townships have filed resolutions with the County Election Board, asking ballot places for votes at the Nov. 7 general election on levies to provide money for operating expenses.

The proposals are: Wayne Township: A new 1-mill levy that would be in effect five years to provide funds for fire protection.

Knox Township: A new 2-mill levy for one year to raise funds for construction of a township building.

West Township: A new half-mill levy that would run one year to provide funds for fire protection.

Meanwhile, county commissioners certified a resolution enacted Monday seeking a vote on renewal of the 55/100-mill child welfare levy for five years.

Toastmasters Club Holds Meeting Here

James Buchanan presented a prepared talk and Harold Sneddon was recipient of the "bull-thruster" award when the Toastmasters Club met Wednesday night at the Ohio Valley Gas Co. office.

James Cunningham was toastmaster, Robert Frontz topic master and Sneddon chief evaluator.

Cunningham reported on the group's entry in the Midland Fourth of July parade. Participants were Cunningham, Don Hancock, Vincent Maola and Francis House, president.

Mrs. Pat Nuzzo 643-4508

The worship committee at Ohio View Evangelical Lutheran Church, Industry, is furthering plans to purchase some 20 choir robes for members of the senior choir.

Mrs. Homer Paul, chairman of the project sponsored by the Lutheran Christian Women's organization, was authorized to consult with robe dealers and arrange for a meeting with the committee and choir members to select style and color of robes.

The subject at the college students class Sunday following the service will be "Draft Card Burning." The Rev. Oscar L. Arnal, instructor, said that the class is open to all college students home for the summer.

"Christianity and Other World Religions" are new lesson books distributed at the Adult Fellowship class.

"The World We Face," will be Sunday's topic at 9:30 a. m. in the study.

The church council will meet Tuesday at 8 p. m.

The Vacation Church School teachers met Sunday for evaluation of the recent school held in the church Sunday school rooms. Plans pertinent to improving next year's school were discussed. Mrs. Robert Cowan, director, said that due to an increase in enrollment this year, more teachers and more time for sessions would be required to achieve better and more complete educational results. She also stated that in order to have a more accurate account of supplies needed a pre registration of next year's pupils would be held.

Mrs. Robert Safford is Altar Care committee chairman for July, assisted by Mrs. Arthur Wessel, Mrs. Paul Brucker, Mrs. William Keagy and Mrs. Joseph Rakas. Lawn maintenance for this week will be in charge of Jerry and Thomas Brobeck. The Social Ministry committee will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. at the parsonage. Mrs. Jack M. Peck and George McLeod will lead a discussion on a current issue.

CUB PACK MEETS

Ohioville Cub Scout Pack 546 held a regular monthly pack meeting Monday night at Shelter 15 at Bradys Run Park. A family coverdish dinner was held with Boy Scout Troop 546 included.

A short program preceded a Dad - Son ball game.

A surprise feature of the evening was the presentation of a "Recognition for Service" plaque to Cubmaster and Mrs. George Daniels Jr. A blue and gold corsage was given Mrs. Daniels by the pack.

Bill Slucarczyk, installation representative, assistant Cubmaster Ben Tiberio and den mother Joan Gailey were co-chairmen of the presentation.

Two special cakes were baked for the occasion by Mrs. George Anderson and Mrs. Paul Rice Jr.

Committeeman Joe Sosack announced the bus for Camp Guyasuta will leave the Fairview Grange Friday at 6 p. m. Den mothers Audrey Thompson and Hope Shaffer assisted at the refreshment table.

Doctors quit smoking

CHICAGO—According to a recent survey, 52% of American doctors do not smoke. Many quit recently due, according to the Anti-Tobacco Center of America, to the conclusive evidence linking cigarettes and lung cancer.

Many doctors gave up smoking without straining their will power thanks to a new tablet which helps to progressively eliminate the need for nicotine and, as a result, the desire to smoke. Less than 2% of the 150,000 people who tried this tablet reported they still smoke!

Smokers interested in receiving information (free) about this new tablet are invited to contact directly the Anti-Tobacco Center of America, Dept. 527-J, 366 Fifth Avenue, New York 1, New York.

If you want health insurance that pays you as well as your doctor...

...the man from Nationwide is on your side.

Our medicine is easy to take.

Ordinary health insurance usually does a fine job with medical bills. But often that isn't enough. Who pays for your family's expenses—food, clothing, rent—if you're sick and can't work?

The man from Nationwide can offer you a health plan that picks up the tab where most basic hospitalization plans leave off. It assures that you will still have an income if you become totally disabled by accident or sickness and can't work.

Nationwide will send you a "pay check" every month. When you buy your policy, you select the amount you want to be paid, based on your income—anywhere from $50 to $600 a month.

And you choose the period you will be paid—two years, five years, even life.

The man from Nationwide is on your side. Ask him about Nationwide's nice, green medicine. It's easy to take.

Violence By Any Other Name

For the fifth straight year, July 4 brought rioting to the Wisconsin resort city of Lake Geneva.

In previous years, Lake Erie resort centers had been scenes of holiday violence.

Recently the little community of Twinsburg, Ohio, was the victim of a marauding motorcycle band.

In the spring, Fort Lauderdale citizens brace for the annual onslaught of prowling, drinking, steamed-up college students.

Why?

When violence and looting occur in the Negro districts of Buffalo, Cleveland, or Los Angeles, there is talk about the underprivileged and unemployed, the victims of circumstances.

No one is saying that about resort-area rioters. When the cause is discussed, it gets wrapped in ambiguous theories like rebellion against authority, mass hysteria and general hell-raising.

The point is that in both cases bad actors are letting loose with illegal and uncalled-for violence against innocent bystanders. It is nothing less than infringement upon the constitutional right of every American to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

The private citizen terrorized half the night and the small shopkeeper who watches his life's work go up in smoke are not interested in abstract behavioral theories. The cold facts speak plainly enough.

It is fine to work on poverty problems and specific area troubles when there is peace. But when Molotov cocktails are flying through the air, or unruly crowds are roughing up citizens and police officers, then rowdies have to be dealt with as the lawbreakers they are.

The privilege of citizenship carries with it the responsibility of respect for the rights of others.

When this responsibility is cast aside, no one may know why it happened. But he does know it can be and must be stopped.

Capstone On Frustration

Henry Cabot Lodge, who should know as much about the prospect of victory in Vietnam as anyone in official circles, says that even defeat of the North Vietnamese army would not stop the bloodshed.

He was former U.S. ambassador to South Vietnam.

Defeat of the army, Lodge explains, would leave the Vietcong, and it would leave the United States bearing responsibility for a military project that might never be finished.

Meanwhile, despite evidence that the initiative now belongs to the United States, the enemy is enjoying a fatter margin of success in inflicting casualties—255 in one encounter last Sunday. There has been a change in tactics, from small-unit hit-and-run guerrilla assaults to large-unit engagements.

The United States needs more and more manpower to hold its own in Vietnam, though the never-declared enemy is holding his own with a grand total of less than half as much manpower, according to U.S. estimates.

The gristliest fear of U.S. involvement continues to be repetition of the fate that overtook

France after years of bloody sacrifices to save Indo-China. Despite many hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of U.S. aid, French militarism finally was swamped after nine years at Dien-bienphu in 1954.

Meanwhile, French opinion had turned against a government policy that amounted to trading French casualties for last-ditch face saving in foreign lands. The same resentment was to be aroused later by France's lost-cause struggle in Algeria.

The United States now has been mired in Vietnam longer than France was mired there—since 1956 in varying degrees. When its long-time ambassador to South Vietnam admits that even military victory over North Vietnam would not end the frustration, he is putting the capstone on a project of futility.

U.S. motives for intervention in Vietnam may be unimpeachable. Its military judgment in getting mired down in a place where it cannot win—not even by forcing North Vietnam to surrender—may end up in a class with Gamal Abdel Nasser's military maneuvers in the Middle East that turned out to be for keeps.

TRUMAN TWILL

Purely Personal

Among things I wonder about are escaped prisoners who never are rounded up. Thousands of them must be among us, leading circumstance lives to make sure they stay clear of the law.

Every year at this time I keep my eye on wild raspberries growing along the lane on Rosy Fingered Dawn, but before they are ripe enough to eat something always eats them—presumably birds. I regard this as theft.

Another gastronomic treat I owe to Pennsylvania Dutch cooking is leaf lettuce wilted in hot vinegar, then served with crisp bacon crumbled into it. Next to cottage cheese and apple butter, I like it best. Will the lady who cooks for me please note.

I don't worry about it, but the zest went out of the Fourth of July when Nice Nellies outlawed fireworks as over-the-counter commodities. We now have the H-bomb, napalm and a variety of other things to take their place, however.

It seems to me the Suez Canal will do for the Egyptians and Israelis what the English Channel has done for the English and their enemies on the Continent—keep them from getting at each other until they can round up enough boats.

Michigan Gov. Romney will spend his vacation in New Hampshire, instead of in Upper Michigan. You know why? He will be campaigning in New Hampshire's presidential primary next winter.

Everybody knows about David Henry Thoreau, born 156 years ago July 12, but what fascinates me is that he was long on ideas, short on practice. Anyone could live two years in a hut at Walden Pond. Heck, I once spent a week sleeping on pine boughs, knowing I would be back in my own bed when the ordeal was over.

The Great Good Government is grinding its bureaucratic teeth because people are smoking more cigarettes than ever. Anyone want to bet the GGG won't wind up doing what it once did with booze and make smoking the daring and unlawful thing to do?

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

It is with hopeful expectations that the community awaits the outcome of the great Volunteer Service on Mental Health affairs, recently organized by Dr. J. J. Manalac, psychiatric director of the Jefferson County Mental Health Clinic.

It has been a long time dream of us who are concerned with mental health to assemble all the different services embodied in this endeavor and put them to worthwhile use under the hands of lay workers and sub-professionals.

The Mental Health Association reaffirms its trust and confidence in the entire community in connection with the establishment of this volunteer project, and is likewise fully cognizant of the "significant assumptions" posed by Dr. F. J. Manalac in regards to its conception.

In this vein, the Mental Health Association does not only endorse this project, but is happy to be its co-sponsor and would even now mobilize its individual members to participate actively in its functioning.

I therefore also enjoin all those who are interested in Mental Health affairs to volunteer for this great job.

A Very Small Roadblock

Who Can You Trust?

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON

One of the worst things to come out of the Dodd censure hearings is that no one can trust the people working for him any more.

It will be recalled that all Sen. Dodd's troubles started when four staff workers got mad at him and copied all of his files, which they turned over to Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson. Since then everyone in Washington has been watching the people who work for them like hawks.

I even found myself caught up in the hysteria.

The day after Sen. Dodd was censured I walked into my office and found my secretary, Elaine, going through my files.

"What are you doing in those files?" I screamed.

Elaine jumped. "I was trying to get them into some kind of order. They're a mess." "A likely story," I said. "You weren't going to have them copied and turned over to Drew Pearson, were you?"

"Why? Did you want me to?" she asked. "Don't act innocent," I said. "How do I know I can trust you?"

"I've been working for you for three years," she said. "Have I ever given you any reason to doubt it?"

"THAT'S NOT the point. You know what's in those files. But if the public ever found out what was in those files, I wouldn't last in this town a week."

"That's what I've been telling you. If you'd just throw out all that stuff in your files, I'd have some room to work."

"Oh, no, I won't. That's my only protection. I have so many things in my files you'd never be able to copy all of them."

"Why would I want to copy any of them? I want to throw them out!" Elaine said angrily.

"Let me ask you a question," I said. "Suppose I fired you. What would you do then?"

"I'd get myself a decent job," she said.

"Oh, would you now? Or would you come back at night and Xerox everything in this office?"

"Why do you keep talking about firing me?" Elaine asked, almost in tears.

"Because you know too much. Remember that time Gregory Peck took me to lunch and I said I took him to lunch?"

"What about it?"

"It was a clear case of double billing and you're the only one who knows about it. How would you like to be in the position of having somebody hang that over your head?"

"I just put down what you told me to put down," she said.

"THAT'S WHAT Michael O'Hare said Sen. Dodd told him to put down. How do I know that someday you won't report that I used money given to me by Blue Cross to fix up my house?"

"You never did that."

"But it's your word against mine."

"I've got a lot of mail to be answered, so if you're finished, I'll get back to it," Elaine said.

"Sure, and don't forget to send a copy to Jack Anderson while you're at it."

"Is that all?" she said, gritting her teeth.

"No, there's one thing more. Get me Sen. Russell Long on the phone. I might as well be defended by the best man in town."

WASHINGTON

After weeks of getting ready, the United Nations this week faced its showdown on the Arab-Israeli tension and the result was zero.

That there was a lot of wheeling, and perhaps dealing, with the various members by the United States on one side and the Soviet Union on the other can be taken for granted.

But, like President Johnson's meeting with Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, no outsider knows what went on behind the scenes. All that is known is that when the test came neither side had enough votes to win.

Thus once again the United Nations looks ineffective. By now this is an old story.

But, despite all the yelping and handwringing about the condition of the international organization, it has been clear from the beginning that on any given problem the United Nations can only be as strong as its members want it to be.

That reality was there before there was a United Nations—in the days of its creation in 1945 when the big powers insisted upon the right to vote.

BASIC DISTRUST and self-interest were part of the organization from the start. The Soviets have been the greatest practitioner of the veto.

Sometimes this has had a ridiculous result, as in 1950 when the council voted to stop the aggression of North Korea against South Korea. Moscow could have, and would have, prevented this action, if it had been present at voting time. But it wasn't. It happened to be deliberately absent, putting on a sulking act because Red China wasn't given U.N. membership.

And there was the time three years ago that the Soviet Union and France deadlocked the General Assembly when they refused to pay their peacekeeping dues, arguing that only the council, not the assembly, could determine such dues.

And this year there was the never-to-be-forgotten fiasco when the U.N. peacekeeping force was yanked out of Egypt in the midst of the Arab-Israeli crisis and just before the war began.

For 10 years the force, by permission of Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser, had been stationed inside Egypt along the border with Israel. The latter would not allow U.N. troops inside Israel.

By James Marlow

As Nasser neared the peak of his war build-up, he told U.N. Secretary General U Thant to pull his peacekeepers out immediately. And Thant did. So the U.N. troops, which had been in Egypt a decade, weren't there when needed most.

To recapture the goodwill of the Arabs, who felt let down because Moscow did not step in to save them from a beating by Israel, Moscow sent Kosygin to the General Assembly to lead the way for the Arabs against Israel.

That was weeks ago and the Soviets had plenty of time to line up support among the 122 member nations. Moscow wanted Israel condemned as an aggressor and ordered to withdraw from the Arab territory it took in the war.

IN THE General Assembly vote this was defeated. But so was a two-way Latin American proposal, backed by the United States, calling for Israeli withdrawal but also demanding that the Arab states renounce their belligerency towards Israel. A number of other resolutions were also knocked down.

But the assembly did approve, 99 to 0, a resolution calling Israel's unification of Jerusalem invalid.

Now the argument goes back to the Security Council whose failure in the first place to reach any solutions had prompted the Soviets to take the problem to the General Assembly.

The one lesson that emerges from it all has always been: The United Nations is a good meeting place for the nations of the world. Sometimes it works, sometimes it doesn't.

It works when it suits the interests of the members to make it work. It's anything but an ideal organization. But it's the only one the world has. It may stagger along indefinitely or, in the end, fall on its face, as the League of Nations did.

DAVID LAWRENCE

The Minimum

How many people know how costly to the country and how disrupting to individual welfare a change in the federal "minimum wage" rates is?

How many youngsters have been deprived of jobs and how many persons in the upper age brackets have been idled?

These questions only partly indicate the profound effect in an economic sense caused by raising minimum wages this year to $1.40 an hour and by the increase in the scope of the law to include workers hitherto uncovered but who now get at least $1 an hour.

Next February the minimum wage goes to $1.60.

The most far-reaching cost of the increases is in wage rates well above the minimum. These are being forced upward all along the line.

A worker previously earning $1.40 an hour on a 40-hour week received $56 dollars a week. Labor unions aren't content to leave this and the other rates unchanged as the minimum is moved up by law.

When workers who already have reached the $56 bracket demand an increase, this affects those in the $80 category and so on up the line.

The total amount of these increases runs into the hundreds of millions of dollars a year and is one of the factors in the rise in the cost of living, otherwise known as "inflation."

THE HARDSHIPS and tragic results of the raise in the minimum-wage rates have been disclosed to some extent in a survey conducted among 40,000 small business firms in all parts of the country by the National Federation of Independent Business. Replies to its questionnaire are very revealing.

For example, a laundry in Indiana laid off five of its 40 employees and expects to fire still more. In Wisconsin, a small bank discharged two of its employees because it felt that a rate of $56 a week was too much for a beginner out of high school.

The new rates have hurt the chances of teen-agers to get jobs. This is especially true in small towns, but even in a large city small firms are saying they can't afford to train unskilled labor at the new rates.

One restaurant operator in upstate New York said in his comment:

"The minimum wage will cripple the earnings of unskilled labor such as kitchen help, dishwashers, bus boys etc."

A bakery owner in Utah said the minimum wage virtually eliminates apprentices and will close up many small businesses. The new law affects farm employees, too. The need to discharge workers will be felt by the low-skilled and unskilled.

It will be asked why these factors weren't taken into account by members of Congress when they enacted the minimum-wage legislation?

The answer is that the labor-union monopoly in America boasts it controls a majority of both houses of Congress by furnishing campaign funds to help elect them.

THIS EMPHASIZES the need for a stricter code of ethics than has been suggested thus far as a result of the cases of Sen. Dodd and Rep. Powell. It makes a good argument for federal appropriation of campaign funds so candidates will not be placed under obligations to vested interests.

The labor organizations aren't interested in minimum wages as such because those employees who get the increases are usually not members of unions nor likely to be for a while.

They are primarily scattered workers in miscellaneous small shops which aren't organized by the unions. But every rise in the minimum-wage rates imposed by federal law pushes up the whole set of wage scales and has its impact all along the line—including, for instance, on the Auto Workers. This, of course, adds to the cost of automobiles.

Thus, minimum-wage rates have their biggest influence in moving up the other scales throughout the country.

It might be less expensive in the long run for local communities to put the unskilled workers on government relief temporarily until they can be taught skills that would enable them to earn better wages than the minimum.

Akron Mayor Spurned On Strike Talks

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Two rubber companies have rejected a request from Akron Mayor John Ballard for marathon negotiating sessions in an effort to settle the 77-day-old strike by the United Rubber Workers Union. The replies came Wednesday from the B.F. Goodrich Co. and the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co.

J. W. Keener, president of Goodrich, told the mayor that the longest strike in the history of the rubber industry is beginning to threaten the future of the company's operations in Akron.

"There can be no doubt that this strike has serious implications for the future of the company's Akron operations," Keener said. "Its implications are becoming more serious each day that the strike continues."

On the subject of marathon

bargaining sessions, Keener said:

"Our negotiators have been, and remain, willing to meet with union negotiators at any reasonable time and place."

In also turning down the mayor's request, Raymond C. Firestone, board chairman of Firestone, assured Ballard that company negotiators are ready to meet regularly with union representatives until agreement is reached.

Spokesmen for the General Tire & Rubber Co. and Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., to whom Ballard also addressed his request, indicated that a reply would be forthcoming later.

Jurisdiction Challenged

New Court Hearing Eyed In Crucible Proxy Fight

PITTSBURGH — Encouraged by a strong dissenting opinion from the Illinois Supreme Court, Crucible Steel Co. today announced it seeks a rehearing to free itself from the entanglement of Illinois Courts which have "blocked its normal conduct of its business for more than a year."

The minority opinion supports an earlier Appellate Court decision that the hearing of the original stockholder action against Crucible early in 1966 in Cook County Circuit Court "had interfered with the internal affairs of a foreign corporation."

The Supreme Court, according to the minority opinion filed this week, "had assumed grave responsibilities with respect to the management of Crucible."

It further states that "for well over a year without determination of the facts alleged in the (original) complaint but denied any answer to the orderly conduct of the business of Crucible has been presented."

The minority opinion is signed by Justices Walter V. Schaefer, Robert Underwood and Daniel P. Ward.

The Crucible statement said, "The Illinois Courts had prevented the stockholders of the corporation from attending an annual meeting since April 1965. 'The protracted litigation began early in 1966 when four dissident stockholders filed a complaint in Cook County Circuit Court alleging mismanagement and a conspiracy on the part of Crucible Steel, Hunt Foods & Industries, Inc., and Wheeling Steel Corp. to affect a merger of Crucible and Wheeling Steel companies."

"The two substantial shareholders in the group do not live in Illinois. Of the two who do reside in Illinois one, Harold M. Kass, owns only 400 shares which like the 10,000 shares of final dissident, Morris J. Rubin, were purchased just prior to the court action in an attempt to stage a proxy fight for control of Crucible."

According to the minority opinion filed this week by three of the seven justices of the Illinois Supreme Court "apart from the fact that the plaintiffs Rubin and Kass, who bought stock in Crucible and became members of a stockholders committee to solicit proxies in an effort to elect a new board of directors reside here, Illinois has no connection in this case."

"Crucible is a New Jersey corporation," the opinion continues. "Its principal offices and manufacturing facilities are in Pennsylvania and its stockholder meetings are required to be held in either New Jersey or Pennsylvania. Its connections with Illinois measured in percentage of total sales, total assets and total employees located here are minimal."

At the time the action was brought in Illinois, Crucible had in that state only 84 employees, only six tenths of one per cent of its assets and approximately three per cent of its annual sales.

The case has never come to trial but on two occasions. The chief justice of the Illinois Supreme Court, Roy J. Solfsburg Jr., has granted motions of the four dissidents to block Crucible from holding either its 1966 or 1967 annual meetings of shareholders.

The Illinois Supreme Court split 4-3 in its vote to upset the Appellate Court decision. Four is the legal minimum number of votes for a Supreme Court decision. The minority opinion supports the Appellate Court which said in hearing the original complaint the Cook County Circuit Court had "interfered with the internal affairs of a foreign corporation."

The dissenting justices state that the Supreme Court "has assumed grave responsibilities with respect to the management of Crucible." The order of the trial court made no findings as to the truth of the allegations of the complaint, but continued the 1966 annual meeting of the shareholders until Aug. 29, 1966.

The judgment of the Appellate Court directing dismissal of the action was entered on July 22, 1966.

"On July 29, 1966, a single judge of this court enjoined the reconvening of the 1966 annual meeting pending the courts final action in this case. Under the laws of New Jersey and its own bylaws, Crucible was required to hold an annual meeting of its shareholders on April 26, 1967. On April 6, 1967, however, another single judge of this court entered an order enjoining Crucible from convening its 1967 annual meeting pending this court's final decisions.

"On June 15, 1967, the opinion continues, Crucible filed a motion requesting leave to conduct a special meeting of its shareholders for the purpose of considering issuance of additional capital stock. Affidavits in support of this motion emphasized the necessity of this action in terms of the orderly expansion of the company and the maintenance of its competitive position. The court has not acted on that motion, the dissenting justices declare.

Crucible has claimed that the prolonged litigation and the inability to hold an annual meeting had eliminated a large group of potential investors and depressed the aggregate market value of its outstanding common stock $47 million or $11 per share below book value. During the same period the company has established record highs in both sales and earnings.

suits in different Federal courts. The merger, which would be the largest in railroad history, has been delayed by a number of legal maneuvers, and suits are pending in several states.

The merger was approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) in April 1966. But the two railroads were blocked from putting the consolidation into effect when the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad went into court last September seeking a temporary injunction. The Erie-Lackawanna was joined by eight other railroads, including the Norfolk & Western.

The E-L sought delay until the ICC could decide in what major railroad system it should be included. The ICC, acting on a Supreme Court order, last month ordered the N&W to acquire control of the E-L and two other smaller lines, the Delaware & Hudson and the Boston & Maine.

The ICC at the same time ordered the Pennsylvania and New York Central to pay the three smaller roads financial indemnities until they became part of the N&W system.

The N&W then asked a Federal court in Roanoke, Va., to kill the order that it take in the three smaller railroads. That suit is pending.

The Justice Department and the ICC have gone into court in Virginia seeking a stay of the proceedings. Both agencies are seeking to have all of the litigation consolidated by the court in New York.

Newspapers' Economics To Be Aired

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate antitrust subcommittee will open hearings next week that seem likely to become the first in-depth congressional study of newspaper business economics.

The hearings will center on a bill to permit an antitrust exemption for mergers or joint business and commercial operations of newspapers, both dailies and weeklies, in order to save "failing newspapers."

Subcommittee aides report being flooded with requests to testify and with material taking strong stands for and against the bill. Some objections have been directed to wording of the measure rather than its basic purpose.

Labor unions were listed as leading the opposition. Newspaper publishers were described as split, with the strongest support from multiple-paper operators and with owners of suburban papers among the bill's chief foes.

The hearings begin Wednesday. Nine additional days of hearings have been scheduled in July and six or seven more are planned in August. Further hearings are expected in November or December.

The bill was introduced by Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., on March 16 with 14 other senators — 7 Democrats and 7 Republicans — as co-sponsors. It's called the "Failing Newspaper Act."

It stems from an antitrust suit brought by the Justice Department in 1965 against a 1941 arrangement by two Tucson, Ariz., daily newspapers, the Citizen and the Star, under which a single company was created to conduct their printing, advertising, circulation and business operations.

Independent news and editorial staffs have been maintained by the two newspapers.

Hayden's bill provides that if a newspaper is failing, it may merge with another newspaper or enter into arrangements with certain joint operations without violating antitrust laws.

Washington Irving was the first American writer to win international fame.

Reunions were held by the Lincoln High School classes of 1947 and 1967 Saturday night at the Willows Motel at Industry.

Ninety-five attended the 20th reunion of the class of 1947. Class officers who attended were Bernard Trevino, vice president, and June Wildman Winkle, secretary - treasurer. Other officers not able to attend were Robert McFadden, president, and Theresa Vohar, historian.

Francis Lamberson, class sponsor, also unable to attend, sent a letter of congratulations to the class from New York.

The class members recalled their motto, "Today Decides Tomorrow." The group sang their class song which had been composed in 1947 by a class member, Felix Granito.

The general committee included Joe Spanik, chairman; Mrs. Marko Yandrich, secretary - treasurer; John Uccellini, master of ceremonies; Mrs. Olga Sanders, Mrs. Andrew Tonic, Mrs. Chester Cook, Mrs. Nick Stevenson, and Miss Carmen Centore.

The same committee was chosen to prepare for the 25th reunion in 1972.

Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Florence See of Los Angeles, Calif., for traveling the farthest distance; to Joseph Dappolonia of Washington, D.C., the person with the youngest child, and also, the man with the least hair; to Mrs. George Shaffer, the most children and the oldest child; Mrs. Alvin Bayne of New York, the most fabulous hair style, and Mrs. Yandrich, married the longest. A door prize was won by Richard Beeson.

The program included a cocktail hour, dinner and program from 7-9, and dancing to the Ginny Custer Orchestra.

Ninety-four attended the 10th reunion of the class of 1957.

All the original officers attended, including Victor Presutti, president; Louis DiCiccio, vice president; Marie DeProspero Adkins, secretary - treasurer, and Starlene Presutti Drear, historian.

These comprised the general reunion committee along with Angie Vazquez Balco and Evelyn Adams McGeehan.

Prizes were awarded to Sam Presutti of Meadowbrook Estates, Industry, as the oldest married; William Myers of Glastonbury, Conn., youngest married; Vincent Novak of Midland, youngest child; Pat Kriehner Wolfenden of Canton, Ohio, oldest child; Frank Beggs of La Mirada, Calif., traveled farthest; Richard Bloor of Ohioview, first reservation; Michael Caffro of Midland, lost most hair, and Barbara Modany Groscof of Midland, and Mary Ellen Harley Webb of Aliquippa, tied for most children — each with five.

The reunion committee placed a wreath at the gravesite of Douglas Graham, a deceased class member, Saturday at the Beaver Cemetery.

Six centerpieces made by the committee and one floral piece from the main table were awarded as prizes to Patricia White Grosser of Willoughby Hills, Ohio; Peggy Krovitsky Williams of Columbus, Ohio; Victor Presutti, Pat Wolfenden; Marilyn Silverberg Gusk of Sewickley; James Hibbard of Ohioview, and Patty Tepovich Janich of South Holland, Ill.

Group pictures were taken. Each one received a milk glass mug and a printed class book of vital information on the whereabouts and activities of all the class members. Another reunion was planned for 1972.

The class motto was "You'll Never Walk Alone," the class colors, purple and white, and the class flower, the violet.

Firm Begins Beaver Plant Enlargement

BEAVER, Pa. (AP) — Westinghouse Corp. breaks ground today for a multimillion dollar expansion of its plant here including a new building and 120,000 square feet of manufacturing space.

A.J. Hendry, general manager of the company's standard control division, said the company is gearing for a 30 per cent increase in demand for electrical distribution and control products in the next three years.

The expansion at the Beaver plant marks the second time in 18 months it has been enlarged. The new building will house expanded facilities for the production of plastic molded parts and a new and larger controlled-temperature room for the assembly and testing of molded case circuit breakers, Hendry said.

Industry Slates Meeting On Community Park Plan

Discussion was held on a subdivision ordinance and a proposed community park for recreation purposes when the Industry Borough Council met Wednesday night in Borough Building.

An informal meeting was set for Monday at 7:30 p. m. between Council and the Planning Commission headed by James McGhee, chairman, at the Borough Building to discuss the matters.

Ross Strohm, chairman of streets and road committee, reported 22,530 gallons of road oil was distributed on borough roads during June and that road oiling is now complete.

A representative of Michael Baker Jr. Inc., borough engineer, reported there has been a delay in printing the new borough map because of a heavy work load at the printers office at Pittsburgh where the map is being prepared. The maps will be available as soon as the printer can submit them.

Mayor Steve Suchanec's June report showed 18 complaints investigated, two accidents, four arrests, seven warnings and 2,564 miles logged on the police cruiser.

A letter will be sent to George Cindrich, thanking him for cleaning brush and trash off his lot across from the Willows Motel, since this has improved the appearance of the Willo-Vue Plan.

Bills approved totaled $6,675. The next meeting will be Aug. 2 at 7:30 p. m.

4 Teen-Agers Hurt As Auto Hits 2 Others

Four teen-agers were injured early this morning when the auto in which they were riding struck two parked cars in Chester.

Police said a car driven by Gene Besceglia, 17, of 6627 Shetland St., Pittsburgh, was southbound on Virginia Ave. when it smashed into autos owned by Joseph H. Bowen and Alice Pritchett, both of 114 Virginia Ave.

Besceglia was listed "fair" at City Hospital with a possible concussion and lip lacerations. Two other passengers also remain fair. Charles Pecora III, 17, of New Cumberland suffered facial lacerations and James Williams, 17, of 931 Plutus Ave., Chester, sustained lacerations of the legs, scalp and wrist.

A third passenger, 16-year-old David Dugan of 583 Virginia Ave., Chester, was released from the hospital following treatment for various abrasions.

The car involved in the crash was registered to Mildred B. Emmerling of East Liverpool R. D. 3. Police indicated it would be a total loss. Damage was moderate to the parked cars.

Campbell said his department is continuing an investigation.

Earthquakes in the United States have claimed only 1,500 persons since settlement. Almost half the victims perished in the 1906 San Francisco disaster.

House Approves Wetzel Bill To Tighten Barber Controls

By WILLIAM V. MERRIMAN
Review Staff Correspondent
COLUMBUS, Ohio — With the state's barbers' groups lined up in support, a bill sponsored by State Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel, R-Columbiana, to increase licensing requirements for barbers passed the Ohio House Wednesday, 84-5.

Similar legislation authored by Wetzel two years ago, he recalled, stalled in committee when Ohio's 8,000 journeymen barbers, 500 master barbers and 12 barber colleges could not agree on its provisions.

The current bill, now headed for the Senate, first raises the minimum educational requirement for certification from the eighth grade to the 10th grades. Further, it tightens standards to be met by barbers coming from outside the state, requiring them to have practiced as a registered barber for at least two years and to have completed the 10th grade.

Abolished by the bill would be the temporary permit which now allows a barber or apprentice from out-of-state to practice as a barber until he is called for examination for a regular certificate.

Out-of-state barbers without two years' practice would have to repeat the entire process of education, apprenticeship and examination, with apprenticeship in another state or county credited to the 18 months which must be served in apprenticeship in Ohio.

Barber schools, under the bill, would have to require at least 10th-grade education before admitting students. Removed from present law would be the provisions that the 1,000 hours of instruction in an approved barber school be continuous.

Reds' Mortar, Artillery Fire Below DMZ More Effective

WASHINGTON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops fighting U.S. Marines below the demilitarized zone are using mortar and artillery fire with greater effect than ever before, say Pentagon experts.

The American sources suggested the North Vietnamese may have adopted an American technique — posting artillery spotters with forward infantry units.

It also was said the North

Vietnamese may have better communications than in the past to transmit spotter information back to mortar and gun positions.

American experts said the increased effectiveness of enemy artillery and mortar fire is one of the most significant aspects of the heavy fighting around Con Thien this week.

In the past, the Communist North Vietnamese have aimed most of their mortar and artillery rounds at fixed U.S. positions.

But now, the American experts said, the enemy is hitting at moving U.S. units, firing salvos and then adjusting their ranges and directions as targets shift.

The North Vietnamese have dug in their artillery north of the Ben Hai River which forms the boundary between North and South Vietnam. The river runs through the middle of the six-mile-wide buffer zone, which has not lived up to its official demilitarized status for about a year.

The North Vietnamese troops bring mortars with them when they operate in the southern half of the demilitarized zone or below.

U.S. military sources said the volume of North Vietnamese mortar and gunfire has increased somewhat.

However, it is considered significant that the enemy is able not only to maintain heavy weapons fire but to increase its volume in the face of strong and persistent U.S. air attacks on supply lines carrying ammunition.

Driver Fined $50 For Area Car Collision

Clyde Cleo Smith, 55, of 317 1st St., Wellsville, was fined $50 and costs today in Municipal Court when he pleaded guilty to a reckless driving charge as an aftermath of a spectacular one-car crash May 12 in which his car plunged off the East Liverpool-Wellsville Rd.

Smith originally had been cited by the Highway Patrol on charges of public intoxication and driving while under the influence of alcohol. Both counts were dismissed and the reckless driving charge was substituted today on motion of Asst. Solicitor Richard J. Clark. The prosecutor told the court Smith suffered a brain concussion in the crash and the symptoms of the injury might have been confused with the alleged signs of intoxication in the evidence.

The patrol said Smith's car veered off the four-lane highway and ended up on the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. tracks.

Paul Tobin, defense counsel, entered a plea in mitigation of sentence. He told the court his client spent five weeks in the hospital as a result of the crash and will not be able to work "for two or three more months."

Meanwhile, the court imposed a fine of $15 and costs and ordered a 15-day suspension in the driver's license of John Edward Rardon, 26, of West End, Salsville, who pleaded guilty to a charge of driving 78 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone on the East Liverpool - Wellsville Rd. He was cited in a radar check Saturday at 2:07 p.m., the patrol said. William Krue, 38, of Box 156, Irondale, cited at the same time and also accused of driving 78 miles an hour, forfeited a $32.50 appearance bond.

Gene Mancuso, 37, of Youngstown, who pleaded guilty to driving 75 miles an hour early today in a 60-mile zone on Route 7, was fined $20 and costs and given a 15-day suspension of his operator's permit.

Bonds of $32.50 each were forfeited by George L. Rawson of Chester R.D. 1, cited Wednesday at 6:45 p.m. on Route 30 on a charge of driving 75 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone, and Nicholas J. Harris, 45, of Youngstown, arrested June 24 on Route 30 on a charge of failure to display a highway use tax decal on his tractor-trailer.

FDR Foe Claimed

NEW YORK (AP) — Bruce Barton, a pioneer in modern advertising and a Republican congressman who bitterly opposed President Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal, died Wednesday at age 80. Miss Becky Ann Brindley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Brindley of Sarasota, Fla., former local residents, became the bride of Stephen Charles Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Brown of Sarasota, June 17 in St. Boniface Episcopal Church of Sarasota, with the Rev. Joseph Drundy officiating.

The bride is the great-niece of Miss Bella Woolrich and Miss Lillian Woolrich of S. Surrey Rd., Fisher Park, who have returned after a three weeks vacation in Sarasota.

Miss Cherri Brown, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. Charles Schaner served as best man and Kenneth Uter and Robert Hennis as ushers. Jeffrey Brindley was ring-bearer.

Following a reception at the Sarasota Hotel, the newlyweds honeymooned in Nassau.

The bride is a beautician at the Casey Beauty Shop. Her husband is associated with the American Oil Co. at Sarasota, where the newlyweds are residing.

The program topic "Into All of Africa" was discussed by Mrs. Evelyn Balser during the meeting of the Women's Missionary Association of the Pleasant Heights United Brethren in Christ Church Monday night when a coverdinner was held at the home of Mrs. Margaret Powell of Oakwood Ave.

Members read facts pertaining to the country. Mrs. Dee Brewster conducted devotions and Mrs. Norma Fry and Mrs. Betty Sweeney offered prayer. The study on "You and Your Great Religions" was discussed by Mrs. Mura Wright.

The next session will be Aug. 1.

Miss Joyce Ann Schriver Weds In Rites At Church

Miss Joyce Ann Schriver became the bride of Gary Dawson during a double - ring ceremony July 1 at the Four Mile United Presbyterian Church.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Schriver and he the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Dawson, all of Ohioville.

Dr. Raymond McCreight officiated for the 2 p.m. rites before an altar adorned with ferns and vases of white roses. The pews and windows were decorated with white ribbon, daisies and roses.

Miss Charlene Bates of Beaver was the organist and accompanied Dr. McCreight, who sang "The Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer" prior to the ceremony.

THE BRIDE, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor - length A-line gown of silk organza with an empire bodice featuring a scoop neckline and long pointed sleeves and alencon lace applique on the bodice and down the front of the skirt. The detachable train was held in the back with a bow and fell chapel length with alencon applique. Her elbow - length veil was held in place by a crown of rhinestones and seed pearls. She carried a cascade arrangement of white roses, carnations and ivy.

The bride carried out the familiar wedding traditions - something old, a gold coin given to the bride's mother by her great grandfather; something new, a penny in her shoe; something borrowed, a veil from her sister, Margaret Vogel, and something blue, a garter.

Mrs. Margaret Vogel of Vandergrift, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a floor - length gown of a blue crepe featuring an empire bodice, scoop neckline and short sleeves and a full - length lace train from the shoulder. She carried a cascade arrangement of yellow daisies and yellow roses.

Audrey Dawson, a sister of the bridegroom, Kathy Sheldon of Erie, a college friend, and Christine Tarbuk of Tuscarawas Rd. were bridesmaids. Barbara Dawson, a sister of the bridegroom, was junior bridesmaid. They were attired in floor-length gowns of yellow styled identical to the matron of honor's and they carried the same arrangement of flowers.

Amy and Ann Vogel, twin nieces of the bride, were flower girls. The bride's mother wore a Nile green crepe dress with matching lace coat and white accessories and the bridegroom's mother a royal blue eyelet dress riages, five births during the year and four youths in overseas service.

Business was conducted by Wilbur Hays of Salineville, president. How Can I? By ANNE ASHLEY

Q. - What can I do when hard - to - replace drinking glasses develop little nicks on their rims?

A. - Wrap a piece of No. 00 emery paper around the handle of a spoon, and rub this back and forth across the nicks until you've smoothed them to "lip - saving" comfort.

Q. - How can I make a brush for velvet?

A. - By making a padded cushion of velvet about five inches long and three inches wide, inserting a piece of cardboard to stiffen it, and then stuffing with cotton. Makes an ideal velvet brush.

Karen Lynn Carnes Weds In Double-Ring Ceremony

Miss Karen Lynne Carnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Carnes of the East Liverpool Rd., Lisbon, became the bride of Paul R. Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Morgan of N. Market St., Lisbon, the afternoon of June 24 in the West Beaver United Presbyterian Church.

Seven-branch candelabra and vase arrangements of white gladioli, carnations and chrysanthemums decorated the chancel, which was banked with palms.

The Rev. Frank Hare, former minister of the West Beaver Church, assisted by Nobuhiro Imaizumi, student minister, officiated at the double-ring ceremony at 2:30 o'clock. Pre-nuptial organ music was presented by Miss Jodine Pilmer, who also accompanied Mrs. Richard Estell, soloist, who sang "O Perfect Love," "Always," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

THE BRIDE, given in marriage by her father, wore an A-line gown of silk organza, with lace on the bodice, kabuki sleeves, floor-length skirt and chapel train. A petal leaf organza crown held her purple silk illusion veil. She carried a white Bible overlaid with a white orchid, stephanotis and ivy.

Miss Gloria Cusick was her cousin's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Nancy Ramsey, Miss Jo Ann Morgan, sister of the bride, and Miss Ellen Cummings of Youngstown.

The attendants were gowned in light blue dotted Swiss empire sheaths, accented by velvet bows and fly-away streamers at the back. Matching petals held their flutter veils and each carried colonial bouquets of blue daisies and miniature mums.

Michael Haffley of Lisbon was best man. Ushers were John Dubash of Youngstown, Clark Wolf and Ronald Guappone, both of Lisbon.

The bride's mother was attired in a three-piece ensemble of powder blue with matching lace shell and hat, bone accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a two-piece lace dress, white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Miss Judy Cusick, cousin of the bride, registered the 180 guests from Michigan, Pennsylvania and Ohio at the reception held immediately following the ceremony on the church lawn.

The bride's table, covered with white linen and blue net overskirt was centered by the wedding cake, flanked by the candlelight of white tapers in crystal.

PRESIDING at the reception were Mrs. Ralph Cusick, aunt of the bride, Mrs. Tim Gault, Miss Cheryl Coppock, Mrs. Donald Dawes, Mrs. Kenneth Barnes and Mrs. Charles Snyder, all of Lisbon.

The bride was graduated from David Anderson High School in 1965 and is a student at the Youngstown Hospital Association School of Nursing. The bridegroom, a 1964 graduate of David Anderson High School, attended the Kent State Academic Center at Salem, Youngstown University and enlisted in the Army in 1966.

For a wedding trip to Canada, the bride chose a navy blue suit with white accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet. Following a 30-day leave, Morgan will return to Germany, where he is stationed with the Army. Mrs. Morgan will resume her studies at Youngstown Hospital for her senior year.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan, the bridegroom's parents were hosts for the rehearsal dinner at Heck's Restaurant in Columbiana.

Park Way Crash Hurts Driver, 46
A 46-year-old East Liverpool district man escaped with minor injuries when his car veered off Park Way at 2:54 this morning, striking a utility pole and retaining wall and damaging a lawn and garden at two nearby homes, police said.

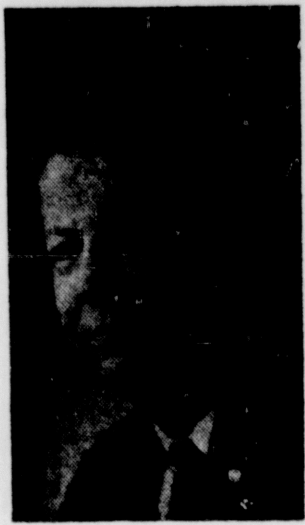

Robert Madish of R. D. 3, Duke Rd., was released from City Hospital after treatment for a laceration of the upper lip and contusions of the chest. Madish's 1958 sedan damaged a garden owned by Frank Wilson of Rubicon St., a wall and the lawn at the home of V. G. Fersch of 1819 Park Way and a pole owned by the Ohio Power Co., officers said.

Madish told Patrolman Jack Strobel he did not know why the car swerved off the pavement. He said he was driving north about 35 miles an hour "when all of a sudden the car went off the road." The crash damaged the front and left side of the auto.

Officers Push Probe In Wounding Of Man

Seger E. Liggins, 36, of Ash-tabula, found wounded by a gunshot late Tuesday night in Harker Ave., remained in "serious" condition today at City Hospital. A 56-year-old East End woman who had been questioned in connection with the man's wounding was released Wednesday pending the outcome of the investigation and Liggins' injuries.

Liggins suffered a chest wound that apparently was inflicted by a .22 caliber pistol. Police found him lying near the curb on Harker Ave. while investigating a call from an East End woman.

Court to note in their letters of invitation to Sawyer that the residents will not wait "two or three years" as has been the case in previous instances.

Commissioner William Graham said that the only feasible solution was to have a meeting with Sawyer since he was the only official in the SRC with authority to allocate money for specific roads.

"There is no use wasting our time with a meeting if Sawyer does not come," he noted.

Mrs. Burch reported that if that was the case, the residents would talk to no one but Sawyer.

Mrs. Delores Foreman, court secretary, was instructed to send letters of invitation to Sawyer, the district engineer of SRC, a representative of the office of the state attorney general, Walter Batalo, Hancock SRC superintendent; State Senator William Tompos; Delegates George Griffith and Callie Tsapis; George Konchar, County Court clerk; Dan Grossi, circuit court clerk; Floyd Tarr, Hancock prosecuting attorney; Sheriff Joe Rodak; Anthony Pirraglia, county assessor, and the three county commissioners.

The SRC will also be requested to send a map of roads in the county to be used at the session.

Konchar noted that certain Newell streets, which some residents had always assumed were the responsibility of the SRC, were not even listed at the Hancock SRC barn as a road to be maintained by the local unit.

Sheriff Joe Rodak, who met with the women several days ago, said that he had been at the SRC office at Charleston and had been informed that the SRC would send a representative to the county.

The commissioners emphasized the county court itself was not responsible for the maintenance of roads in the county.

Newlyweds Are Residing In Apartment At Midland

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Lee Wells are residing in a newly-furnished apartment at 709 Ohio Ave., Midland, following their marriage June 24 in the Pennsylvania Ave. Methodist Church. The Rev. Arthur Williams officiated or the double-ring ceremony.

The bride was Miss Louise Nell Plumley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arvil Plumley of 2210 Crawford Ave., East End. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wells of Hookstown.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white lace dress with matching veiled hat and carried a Colonial bouquet of white carnations tied with satin streamers.

Mrs. Brenda Moses, matron of honor, wore a pink lace dress. Her Colonial bouquet featured pink roses and white carnations.

Jerry Wells, brother of the bride, served as best man.

The mother of the bride chose a beige lace dress with matching accessories and the bridegroom's mother a blue dress with white accessories.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Kennedy of Calcutta. The buffet table was centered with a three-tier cake, topped with a miniature bridal couple.

The newlyweds are 1963 graduates, the bride from East Liverpool High School and her husband from South Side High School. He is employed by the Pennsylvania Department of Highways.

The FCC recalled that before 1964 it permitted AT&T to maintain interstate earnings at the 7.5 per cent level. In the spring of 1965 when profits inched past 8 per cent, the commission urged AT&T to cut its rates.

This resulted in lowered rates for long distance telephone calls in the evening.

But despite these rate reductions put into effect in late 1965, Bell System profits continued to rise. Last year, according to FCC figures, AT&T interstate earnings were 8.56 per cent.

In specifying that the Bell System by Sept. 1 must submit a plan to reduce rates by $120 million—about 3 per cent of its interstate earnings—the FCC did not say how the reduction is to be accomplished.

Rusk Pledges U.S. Will Stay In Vietnam

CHICAGO (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk pledged today that the United States will stay in Vietnam "until the right of the South Vietnamese people to work out their own future, under a government of their own free choice, has been secured."

He said there is more at stake than self determination for the Vietnamese — there is even more than security for the other nations of Southeast Asia.

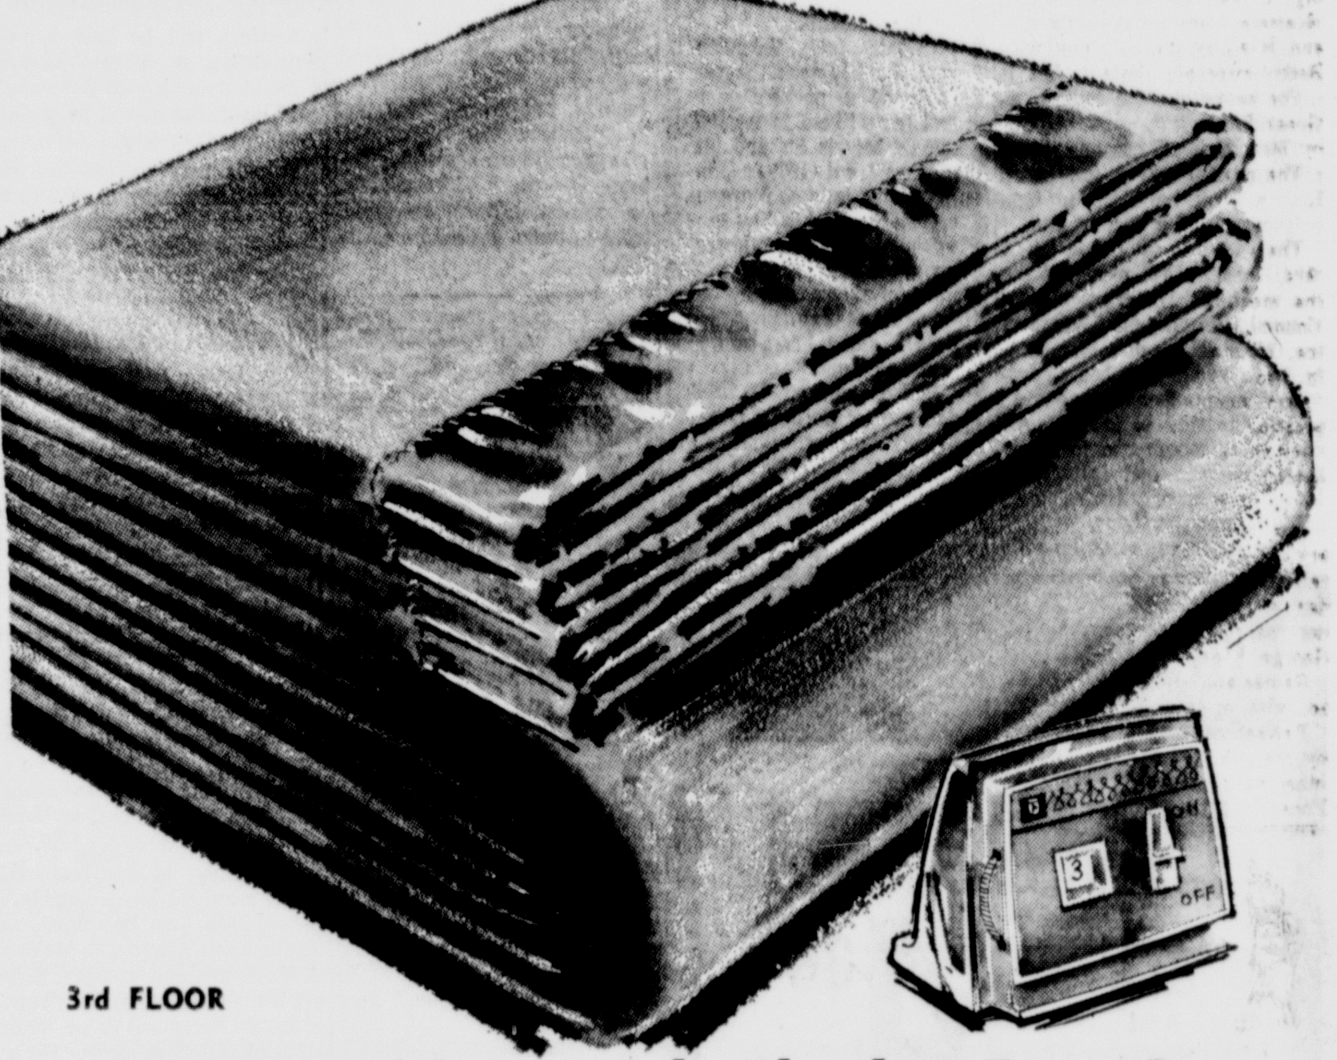

"The greater question is whether aggression is to be allowed to succeed, thus opening the way for further aggression," Rusk asserted.

His assessment was given in a speech prepared for the Golden Anniversary convention of Lions International.

Rusk surveyed a wide range of foreign policy issues from Vietnam to the Middle East and to relations with the Communist world.

Discussing the war between Israel and the Arabs and how to settle it, Rusk restated the U.S. position in the United Nations General Assembly.

Sheriff Refused Budget Increase

Hancock County commissioners turned down a request from Sheriff Joseph Rodak to increase the budget for his department by $3,000 in the upcoming fiscal year, from $115,000 to $118,000.

The action came at a regular meeting Wednesday.

Rodak said if the request were granted he would be able to add another deputy to his force, which, as of July 1, numbered 12 men and two women, down from the earlier 15 men and one woman.

COMMISSIONER President Jack Evans noted that in Rodak's proposed expenditures he had granted pay raises to his deputies. The raises were $15 per month for each man.

Rodak said the raises were granted to compensate the deputies for the extra hours they will be working since the force has been reduced. He said if the $3,000 allotment were granted to him he could reduce the pay of the existing deputies and hire another man.

Rodak noted that with a reduced force his men will have to work from 45 to 50 hours each week.

Commissioner Edward Nogay commented, "We made up a budget and I am against changing it with a supplement or with any other kind of change. We would then be deluged with requests from all departments. I am willing to go along with any reasonable request, but it must be within the budget as we have set it."

The court of commissioners also turned down a suggestion that a cook be hired to feed prisoners in the County Jail.

THE SHERIFF proposed the hiring of a former prisoner to act as cook and general cleanup man at a salary of $125 monthly, with room and board provided, since there is now no cook or trustee at the jail. All current prisoners are there on felony charges and individuals lodged on those charges may not fill those positions.

Commissioners noted that with the construction of the new jail, such a cook position will be eliminated.

They also said that since the number of prisoners in jail sometimes only totaled three the county was not justified in spending money on a cook, since prisoners were "capable of preparing food themselves."

Commissioners approved a motion to advertise for bids for a new sheriff's department cruiser and to trade in one of the older models. The office currently maintains a fleet of four cruisers.

Prior to the motion to advertise, the commissioners tabled a suggestion from Rodak that he use his own car if the court refused to purchase a new cruiser, with the stipulation mileage be paid.

Solo Trip Goes 'Boom'

LISBON — Daniel Hollister, 3, "soloed" backwheels Wednesday night in Dr. Tom Liggett's new station wagon at the pet hospital on Morris St.

Left outside in a car by his father, James Hollister of 316 S. Lincoln Ave., who was inside with the family dog, Daniel got out of the car and into the 1967 vehicle angle-parked by the hospital.

Officer John Vokovich said the boy took the vehicle out of parking gear and it rolled backward across Morris St. and hit a parked 1961 sedan owned by Jean K. Morgan of 724 N. Market St.

Daniel told neighbors about it last night, but most of them thought he was still talking about the Fourth since his story ended "Boom!"

Police estimated $275 damage to the right fender and door of the station wagon and $25 damage to the front fender of the Morgan auto.

Court Suspends Man's Sentence On Jobless Pay

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff today decreed a suspended 90-day County Jail term for Peter N. Cuckovich of the Ceramic Hotel, who pleaded guilty to a charge of obtaining benefits from the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation by "fraud and false representation."

Cuckovich was named in an affidavit filed by Victor DeGeorge, an investigator for the BUC, alleging that he obtained the benefits for the week of Feb. 25 by certifying falsely that he was unemployed and had no earnings.

DeGeorge told the court this morning that Cuckovich obtained $193 in all, but has promised to make full restitution at the rate of $30 a month. The defendant had pleaded not guilty on June 22, but switched his plea to guilty this morning.

In ordering the suspended sentence, the court told Cuckovich he must comply with his agreement to make restitution to the BUC.

Driver Wins Release After 80 Days In Jail

Francis W. Petty of 843 Sophia St., who had spent 80 days in County Jail on a sentence imposed on a charge of driving while intoxicated, was granted his release today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

Records show Petty was arrested by the State Highway Patrol April 22 on Route 7. In a hearing two days later, he was fined $250 and costs, sentenced to 60 days in jail and given a two-year suspension of his driver's license. The license suspension will stand, the judge told Petty.

Petty was released on condition he obtains employment and refrains from drinking. If he returns to court on any offense connected with drinking or driving, he will be sent to jail again "for a long, long time," the judge warned.

Deaths and Funerals

Karl Keller

COLUMBIANA — Karl S. Keller, 71, of 348 Firestone Ave., owner of the Keller Battery Service Co. for 45 years, died Wednesday at 7:10 p.m. at Salem City Hospital after a two-day illness.

Mr. Keller was born in Center Township June 25, 1896, a son of the late John Keller and Elsie Groner Keller. He had resided in the community his lifetime. He was a 32nd degree Mason and belonged to Allen Masonic Lodge 776, the Eastern Star, where he was a past patron, and Odd Fellows Lodge 410, all of Columbiana, the Mahoning Valley Consistory, and the Al Koran Shrine of Cleveland.

He was a 50-year member of the Midway Grange and served on the Columbiana Board of Public Affairs for 24 consecutive years. He belonged to the Grace United Church of Christ, where he was a deacon and elder and a member of the Men's Bible Class. He was married in 1921 to Mabel Stittler. She died in 1952. In 1954, he married Josephine Cope, who survives at home.

He also is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Thomas Rymer of Santa Clara, Calif., Mrs. Harry Hollinger of New Delhi, India, and Mrs. Victor Zerbis Jr. of Salem; a sister, Mrs. Herbert Bush, and a brother, Ray Keller, both of East Palestine; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Glenn Chadwick of Mantua, Ohio; a stepson, Lawrence Cope of Miami, Fla., and 14 grandchildren.

Services will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Warrick Funeral Home by the Rev. Harold Thiedt. Burial will be in Columbiana Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Friday from 7 to 9 p.m. The family requests that material tributes take the form of donations to the Cancer Fund.

Clarence Lintner

Services will be held Saturday for Clarence A. Lintner, 68, of 22 Lincoln St., Salineville, who died Wednesday at 12:10 p.m. at his home following a lengthy illness.

Born May 8, 1899, at Salineville, he was the son of the late Otto Lintner and Mary Schubert Lintner.

Mr. Lintner, a retired pottery worker, was a member of the IBOP and the Salineville Church of Christ.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mildred Lintner, at home; two daughters, Mrs. Edson (Shirley) Hart of Salineville and Mrs. Mary Stuckey of Minerva; a son, Clarence Lintner Jr. of Kensington; three sisters, Mrs. Lucille Hoey of Salineville, Mrs. Helen Willis of Indiana, Pa., and Mrs. Emily Thornton of Bloomington, and two grandchildren.

Services will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. at the Kerr Funeral Home, Salineville, with the Rev. Richard Beam of the Church of Christ officiating.

Burial will be in Woodland Cemetery, Salineville.

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight and Friday afternoon and night.

Fred Lewis

Services for Fred Lewis of 405 N. 4th St., Toronto, who died Wednesday, will be held Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at the Turel Funeral Home in Toronto.

Pastor James Harding of the Toronto River Ave. Church of Christ will officiate.

Burial will be in the Toronto Union Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home this afternoon, tonight from 7 to 9 p.m. and Friday.

Charles M. Capwell

Services were to be held this afternoon at 3 at the Dawson Funeral Home for Charles Michael Capwell, 11-day-old son of Charles F. Capwell Jr. and Penny Ruth Allman Capwell of 1061 Ohio Ave. Dr. Donald DeCarlo of St. Aloysius Catholic Church was to officiate.

Burial was to be in Columbiana County Memorial Park.

The infant, who was born June 25, died this morning at 2:15 at City Hospital.

In addition to the parents, he leaves a sister, Mary Alicia Capwell, at home; the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Allman; the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Capwell Sr.; maternal great-grandmothers, Mrs. Alice Pierce and Mrs. Lena Creel; maternal step-great-grandfather, Curtis Creel; paternal great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Pusateri, and the paternal great-grandmother, Mrs. Alice Capwell, all of East Liverpool.

borne invasion of the north should be carried out to encircle and destroy the Red guns. Pacification—The latest in an eight-year series of pacification programs to win the loyalty of the countryside looked promising when it finally got off the ground in late February. However, government battalions assigned to protect the pacification teams have often proved ineffective. Some 700 pacification workers have been killed or wounded, and whole teams have deserted. Corruption and devious political maneuvering have been reported in some areas. The program is clearly sagging.

The South Vietnamese Army—Despite billions in aid and thousands of U.S. advisers, the Saigon government's troops with only a few notable exceptions have not been built into an effective, aggressive, dedicated military machine.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

According to a recent study, the fall of the Roman Empire may have been caused by lead poisoning. The ancient Romans used lead plates, water pipes and coins. When lead is consumed, it results in cramps, weakness and anemia.

Rifles Taken At Area Home

Investigation continues by Hancock County deputies in to the burglaries of two homes, the latest at a Route 30 residence from which several high-powered rifles were stolen either late Wednesday or early this morning.

Tom Lewis, 19, of Weirton, told deputies he has been staying at the Route 30 home of his uncle, Art Lewis, who is on vacation in California, and discovered the house had been entered when he returned there about 2 a.m. today.

A rear door on the north side of the house was used to gain entrance and the locked master bedroom door was also kicked in, deputies reported.

A gun rack in the bedroom, designed to hold eight weapons and reportedly full, stood bare in the room.

The types of weapons stolen, how many and any other goods taken could not be ascertained immediately.

Young Lewis said he and a friend, Harry Butler, 18, were away from the house from 6:30 p.m. Wednesday until the theft was discovered.

Deputies also reported today a break-in Tuesday at the home of Andrew Holtz, New Cumberland R.D. 2.

Holtz told investigators someone entered his property between 3 and 9 p.m. on the holiday and stole photographic equipment, including a movie camera, light meter and flashguns. The value of the loot was estimated at $467.

Trial Planned July 24

Judge's Ruling Sustains City Anti-Noise Measure

Ruling today on a motion filed by an East End merchant accused of violating the city's anti-noise ordinance, Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff upheld the validity of the legislation and scheduled the defendant's trial for Monday, July 24, at 9:30 a.m.

The defendant is Glenn Thorne, operator of Thorne's Valu-King store at 1616 Pennsylvania Ave. He is named in an affidavit signed by seven residents of the area alleging that compressors, fans and other machinery in the rear of his store "have created an unreasonably loud, disturbing noise of such character, intensity and duration as to be detrimental to the health of the citizens."

Richard D. Kennedy of Lisbon, counsel for Thorne, filed motions June 30 asking for a bill of particulars and asking dismissal of the charge on the grounds the ordinance was unconstitutional and also because of alleged defects in the affidavit.

Jackman Vodrey, counsel for the complainants, already had filed the requested bill of particulars so that motion was not involved in today's action.

Kennedy and Vodrey presented about 10 minutes of argument on the motion questioning the constitutionality of the noise ordinance.

"To be valid an ordinance must be reasonably definite and certain," Kennedy told the court. "This ordinance is far from being definite and certain."

He contended that the legislation appeared to be aimed primarily at noisy radios, phonographs, birds and animals and "whistling and shouting in the streets." The new zoning regulation ordinance enacted in May appears to be a more definite attempt to define and control noise levels, he added.

Vodrey, arguing the constitutionality of the ordinance, termed its provisions "reasonable."

"The ordinance is plain," he said. "It is definite and certain. It is constitutional."

Judge Chertoff, concurring with Vodrey, said in his ruling that "the ordinance is definite and reasonable and in the court's opinion it is constitutional."

Then he set the hearing date. Thorne was served with a warrant in the case June 23. The charge was filed a few days earlier by a group of citizens including Frank P. Duffy, councilman-at-large.

George Washington Sought For Hearing

George Washington, arrested July 4 on a speeding charge, still is being sought by the Highway Patrol on a bench warrant issued by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

This George Washington is 34 and resides at 1628 1/2 Jacobs Rd., Youngstown. The patrol cited him at 12:23 p.m. on Route 30 in a radar check and charged him with driving 55 miles an hour in a 45-mile zone.

When George failed to appear for a hearing Wednesday and it developed he had not posted an appearance bond, the judge ordered a warrant for his arrest. The patrol reported to the court this morning it still has not found the defendant in the case of State of Ohio vs. George Washington.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR HELOISE: Did you ever redecorate a room and have venetian blinds with dirty, yellow tapes and cords that just ruined the whole new appearance? I did.

But I found the solution. Recently when I repainted the walls of my bedroom, I painted the tapes on the blinds to match. I wet the tapes slightly with water using a sponge. Then took a small brush and painted them with a thin coat of the same watercolor paint.

Sure did give a new fresh look to my blinds and makes my newly decorated room look beautiful.

B. SNEAD.

Because my blinds were white, just after washing them and while the tapes were still dripping wet, I thinned some white shoe polish with five parts water and applied it with a sponge. Didn't really show at the time but when they dried,

they were "Snow White with all seven dwarfs again."

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I bought a rubber shampoo hose and had my husband remove the regular shower head in the bathroom and attach the hose in its place.

It is so handy when showering my little ones after playing out-of-doors.

They love it because the spray of water can be moved around and it isn't so high that it runs on their head all the time.

It's also wonderful for washing my feet after mowing the lawn or working in the garden. I couldn't do without mine.

B. P. H.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER
DEAR HELOISE: I hope someone sends in a hint on how to go camping without taking anything!

My husband is giving me one more chance.

Then he's buying a van truck to haul all the things I think we need.

MYRT COLLINGS

DEAR HELOISE: I have a chaise longue with black rubber wheels that left marks on my painted porch. I placed a strip of masking tape around each wheel, and eliminated the marks.

I also placed strips of tape on the bottom of an aluminum rocker and it prevents marks when they are moved. The tape wears through after using for awhile and has to be replaced, but it is well worth it compared to an aching back from scrubbing a porch.

A. R. M.

DEAR HELOISE: I discovered a new use for plastic drinking straws.

I have a little girl whose hair is straight, thin and unruly. I am unable to use ordinary curlers because they slip out too easily.

So I cut some plastic straws into sections and rolled her hair on these using bobby pins to hold them in place.

They worked just fine. Sure would be nice for mothers who have tiny little girls with real short hair which they can't wait to curl.

MRS. McDOWELL.

DEAR HELOISE: I'm sure a lot of ladies have been troubled as I have with boat-necked or spaghetti-strap dresses that insist on slipping off hangers.

Here's what I do: I just clip my dress on the hanger with a pair of earrings that match my dress.

Presto — dress doesn't slip and earrings are handy to be put on with the dress.

BETTY WILLIAMS.

DEAR HELOISE: If you don't have a baby scale, just weigh yourself on your bathroom scale.

Then pick up baby in your arms and weigh to get the combined weight.

The difference, of course, is the baby's weight. How's that for a new Mom?

3 More Killed In Ohio Traffic

By The Associated Press
A Cuyahoga Falls motorcyclist became the first reported traffic victim in Ohio Thursday.

The recent dead:

James P. Ayotte, 26, Cuyahoga Falls.

Robert Reams, 44, Mansfield.

Sophie Loncarevic, 58, Cleveland.

Ayotte was riding a motorcycle in Akron early Thursday when he swerved the machine while striking a dog that ran in front of him, and he was thrown from the vehicle.

Reams was killed Wednesday afternoon in a single car accident on Ohio 60, north of New London in Huron County. He lived at 1651 Timber Road in Mansfield.

Sophie Loncarevic died early today at Elyria Memorial Hospital of injuries suffered Tuesday in the collision of an automobile and a Huron police cruiser in Huron.

Out Of The Air

By HAL HUMPHREY

Is There Still A Place For Pat?

Is Dean Martin, with his lecherous and half-inbred grin, spoiling TV viewers for the clean-cut and square likes of a Pat Boone?

Hal Humphrey

NBC dropped the Boone Show last week at virtually the same time it announced a new three-year, $34 million deal with Dean. But 10 years ago it was Pat who was the toast of nighttime TV for three seasons (on ABC), and Martin was just setting off on a movie career after splitting as straight man from Jerry Lewis.

PAT REALLY doesn't think it's a case of virtue vs. vagrancy. He believes there is room in TV's spectrum for all types of personalities, but that they must be allowed to be themselves more when appearing on the home screens.

"With Dean and his show it's the spontaneity that the people go for. It has that 'live' look about it, and the viewers feel anything can happen. But now take Andy Williams, who is a great singer, but his show is all rehearsed. The viewers sense this, so there isn't the excitement about it," says Pat.

As for Pat's just-folded daytime show, he says it was getting there, and the cancellation came as a surprise to him. The rating was up with those of NBC's "Concentration" and "Hollywood Squares," the two shows on either side of Pat, but not until after the network had decided to drop him. Andy Williams won't be back next season either, except for a couple of specials.

BUT PAT is holding himself in readiness because he feels he'll be back on TV by next spring. He'd even like to try a late-night show if CBS decides to compete with NBC's Johnny Carson and ABC's Joey Bishop and would let him originate from Hollywood.

"People always have thought of me as the square college boy type and don't know this sense of humor of mine. I substituted for Johnny Carson twice and have a two-week commitment to do the same this year.

"The reaction was very good those first two times. I broke everybody up the time I switched some candy cigarettes in that box Johnny has on his desk and began eating one instead of smoking," recalls Pat.

HIS CHURCH-GOING background and supposed naivete give him an advantage over the swifty Dean Martin, Pat believes, because he can get away with more on an innocent basis.

"But I still have to be careful because I wouldn't say anything, or have anything said on my show, that I would not say to my family," he adds.

To prove it isn't just Dean Martin playing the sophisticated rake which viewers go for, Pat points to the Smothers Brothers, whose new comedy hour on CBS this year pressed "Bonanza" in the Sunday night rating race.

"Now they're certainly kind of hokey and corny, but, again, their show doesn't have that really rehearsed look, the way they work it," he says. "And look at Andy Griffith — whose reruns, by the way, were on against my morning NBC show — who certainly isn't sophisticated."

PAT, INCIDENTALLY, was approached by the now-bankrupt United Network to take over the Bill Dana Show from Las Vegas before it folded, but he says it was too much of a gamble, even after being offered a piece of the network.

But the fact they asked him was flattering and would seem to spike any contention, too, that corn and wholesomeness aren't holding their own with lechery and rascality.

"I love the type thing Steve Allen does, and I believe I'm sort of like him," Pat elaborates. "He gets out there on stage and isn't afraid to be embarrassed by whatever comes along. You can let the audience know you're sweating, too, when things aren't going quite right, and they appreciate what you're going through."

While Pat is waiting for his next chance to prove there's a place for his brand of imagery on TV, he'll be busy as the owner of the Oakland Oaks, one of the 11 new basketball teams in the recently organized American Basketball Association debuting next winter.

Police Patrol Negro Area In Cincinnati

CINCINNATI (AP) — Beefed-up police details — including a special riot task force — patrolled the streets of Cincinnati's predominantly Negro area of Avondale Wednesday night and reported that the situation was almost normal.

Racial disturbances erupted in Avondale last month and flared up again on a smaller scale Monday and Tuesday nights.

Police reported some fights and disorderly crowds — but no roving gangs smashing windows or looting stores. A number of false alarms were turned.

City Manager William C. Wichman described this week's disturbances as an "organized crime wave" and said they were completely different from the June riots.

He told police to "use all methods known to you to suppress lawlessness" and said some city ordinances may have to be changed to make them tougher.

The riot task force consists of 24 specially equipped and trained policemen in 12 cruisers, Police Chief Jacob Schott said.

While relative quiet returned to the city, leaders of the Cincinnati Teachers Association said they would make special efforts in the riot areas when school starts this fall.

These would consist of more emphasis of job training, and an effort to establish better communications between teachers and the pupils and parents.

St. Clair Mishap Damages 2 Cars

Two compact cars were damaged in a collision Wednesday afternoon on the three-lane section of St. Clair Ave. 300 feet north of Jennings Ave., police reported.

The mishap involved a 1960 two-door sedan operated by Lester C. Eckles, 37, of Cook St. and a 1966 two-door hardtop driven by Dean Lee Forbes, 23, of Wellsville R. D. 1, officers said. Both were southbound.

Eckles said he had slowed to 5 to 10 miles an hour to turn into a narrow driveway when his car was hit from the rear. Forbes reported he was following Eckles at 20 to 25 miles an hour and did not see the other driver's turn signal until too late to halt.

The mishap damaged the right rear and the tail light of Eckles' car and caused "very minor" damage to the right front bumper guard and splash pan of Forbes' car. Patrolman Orin C. Smith investigated the mishap, timed at 12:37.

TOO BUSY FOR FUN?

Vacations are fun... or should be. However, some people expend too much energy squeezing too many activities into too short a period of time. The ultimate aims of a vacation... rest, relaxation, fun... are often forgotten. Such people find themselves finishing a vacation as tired as when they started it.

Remember, you can't rush rest... you can't force fun. Just relax, and make this year's vacation a memorable one.

And remember, before you go, see our Pharmacist for authorized prescription refills.

Gov. Smith Wife, Accept Invitation To Visit Brazil

CHARLESTON (AP) — Gov. and Mrs. Huleu C. Smith have accepted an invitation to visit Brazil for 11 days this summer, the governor's office announced Wednesday.

The Smiths are scheduled to leave Charleston for Rio de Janeiro July 30 and return here Aug. 11.

They are making the trip at the invitation of Geremias Fontes, new governor of the Brazilian state of Rio de Janeiro. Smith's office said his initial correspondence with Gov. Fontes grew out of their mutual interest in the International Christian Leadership movement.

The schedule arranged for Smith includes meetings with the governors of the states of Guanabara, Sao Paulo, Santa Catarina and Goias as well as

Gov. Fontes; appearances to testify before two committees of the Brazilian Congress, and tours of educational, industrial and social facilities and institutions.

The Smiths' itinerary will extend from Rio de Janeiro, heart of Brazil's industrial area, to the state of Goias in the interior and will include the national capital, Brasilia.

In Brasilia, Smith will testify on West Virginia education programs before the House Committee on Education and Culture and also will make a brief statement before the House Committee on Foreign Affairs.

Smith's office said details of the trip are being arranged by David Wayne Smith, a South Charleston native who teaches English to members of the Brazilian Congress.

Judge Turns Down Petition To Free 'Commuter Bandit'

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A judge has turned down a petition seeking to release the so-called "Commuter Bandit" on his own recognizance but agreed to study a proposal to reduce his bond.

James P. McKenna Jr., the attorney for William E. Zeiler, argued Wednesday that continued confinement of Zeiler worked a hardship on his wife and four children.

"His arrest has had a great impact on his family and on the small business he runs," he said. "Confining him until his acquittal could cause irreparable harm to both."

U.S. attorney Stanley W. Greenfield opposed the motion. He said the government was ready to proceed with four other robbery charges against Zeiler. Conviction on all five charges could bring something approaching a lifetime sentence," said Greenfield, adding that such a possibility might cause even a devoted family man to flee unless bond were high enough.

Zeiler, charged with the Sept. 23, 1963, holdup of a bank, is being held on $50,000 bond. The FBI says he is the "commuter bandit."

Greenfield also said the government might possibly charge Zeiler with all 16 robberies attributed to the "Commuter," plus two "John Doe" indictments in federal court. "It's too early to say what will be done on these," he said.

Judge John L. Miller took under advisement a second motion to reduce bond to between $10,000 and $15,000.

Earlier, Zeiler waived a hearing before a U.S. commissioner.

Nations Owe U.S. Over $41 Billion From War I Debt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Other nations now owe the United States more than $41 billion — about half in principal and interest from World War I debt.

Officials estimated today that foreign governments and organizations owe Uncle Sam about $20.8 billion as of last March 31 exclusive of interest and World War I debt.

Principal and interest from World War I added another $21 billion to the bill.

If past experience is any guide, the figures will go even higher.

Seventeen nations still owe money from World War I. At last listing 96 nations and 5 international organizations owed the other debt.

More than 99 per cent of the World War II and post-war debt is being repaid on time but the story is much different for World War I. Only Finland makes timely payments and is the only country not in arrears. It's all legal, however. The United States in 1953 agreed that no further payments need be made on World War I debt until final settlement of German reparations. Payments actually stopped, except for Finland, in 1932.

Ice Cream Festival Set By Fire Auxiliary

Plans were made for an ice cream festival later this month when the Auxiliary of the Knoxville Volunteer Fire Department met at the station.

Members also agreed to purchase new dishes for the station. Mrs. Ray Cochran presided.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. William Bragg. The next meeting will be Aug. 7 at 7:30 p. m.

Fire Damages Buckeye Lake Park Section

BUCKEYE LAKE, Ohio (AP) — Tongue-like flames whipped upward from a boat dock and quickly spread to a huge amusement center at Buckeye Lake Park Wednesday night, creating a fiery spectacle for summer sightseers.

The flames, which brought out five fire departments from the Licking County lakeshore community and the surrounding area, made a near shambles of Park Terrace, a wooden three-story dance hall and restaurant.

No damage estimate was immediately available.

Park Terrace, located on the waterfront, is just about 100 feet west of the site of the old Lake Breeze Hotel, which burned to the ground last year.

Buckeye Lake Fire Chief George Braden said the cause of the fire, whose ruins were still smoldering early today, was not immediately determined. It started, however, in the docks, he added.

Witnesses told newsmen the flames at first appeared harmless, but quickly spread through the docks and lapped up onto the third floor dance hall which protruded over the sidewalk along the waterfront.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Will you please tell me what is happening to decent manners? I go to the market and the butcher says, "You are next, Honey." Then the checkout man says, "Here's your change, Doll." The senior citizen who carries my groceries to the car says, "Have a nice day, Sweetheart."

When the garage man called me "Beautiful" I decided to write a letter to Ann Landers. The final indignity occurred when I finished my letter to you, handed the letter to the postman and asked him to mail it. He said, "Of course I will, Sugar." I told him to skip it because I wanted to add another line.

(This one.) Where I was brought up, intimate names were reserved for a favored few, on special occasions. Now they have become part of our everyday language. Is this the way it is everywhere or only in Los Angeles?—MRS. WILLY SUFFICE.

Dear Mrs. Suffice: Folks are less formal than they used to be, and this goes for everywhere, not just Los Angeles. These people who use pet names are simply trying to be friendly—not intimate. If you feel they are being too friendly, simply tell them, Baby.

The Full Treatment

Dear Ann: There is a way to handle crude people who pry into the lives of others and ask intimate questions.

I'm an arrested alcoholic. For years I've been the victim of unbelievably cruel people who pose as "interested" friends. Because of my own insecurity, I had the ridiculous notion that I owed these people answers. I know now that I do not.

Several months ago someone asked me, in the presence of my older child, whom we adopted, "What do you know about his real mother?"

It was on that day that I learned to cope with such bores. I now do one of three things:

1. Ignore the question—as if I did not hear it.
2. If the person repeats the question and persists, I stare at him or her with a look of incredulity and say, "I don't think I heard you properly. Will you please repeat that?" If the question is repeated, I say, "I couldn't believe you were asking such a personal question." Then I go on and talk about something else.
3. Say, "I really don't care to discuss that subject with anyone."

I hope you will print my letter for the benefit of others who have not yet learned. I wish I had seen a letter like this 10 years ago.—S.J.

Dear S.: I'm delighted to print your letter. It has a great deal of merit and I approve—totally.

Confidentially

"Who Needs Him? You do. And so do your children. Stop being such a stubborn mule and tell him you are sorry for behaving in such an outrageous manner. It is apparent that you did not have all the facts, which is usually the case when people go off half-cocked. An old English philosopher once said, 'The degree of one's emotions varies inversely with one's knowledge of the facts—the less you know, the hotter he gets.'"

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Girl Found Murdered In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A 4-year-old girl was found murdered early today on Pittsburgh's North Side, her badly beaten body discovered by police in a rooming house closet after a seven-hour search.

Swarms of officers and special police K-9 dogs were used in the wide hunt for Marian Kresnick, who disappeared from a neighbor's apartment around 5:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Police found her body in a first floor closet beneath a stairwell in the same building in which she had spent the afternoon playing with two young children of Mrs. Joel Shearer.

When Marian's mother Marie, went to call her for dinner at 5:30, Mrs. Shearer told her the child had left about 20 minutes earlier.

Police said neighbors later reported seeing her up the street around 6:30 p.m.

Shortly after midnight, three policemen found her body lying face down, fully clothed, in the closet.

Police Inspector Mayer DeRoy said it was not known when or how Marian had been accosted or whether she was sexually assaulted.

Mrs. Kresnick and Marian had been living on the North Side since last Sept. 23, when they came to Pittsburgh from Yugoslavia.

Firemen To Hold Picnic On July 23

The annual picnic was set for July 23 at Tomlinson Run State Park when Lawrenceville firemen met Wednesday at the station.

Richard Goodlin was appointed acting secretary to replace Joe Bennett, who resigned. Ken Goodlin was elected to the board of trustees to replace Ronnie Pugh, who also resigned.

Ben Dudgeon was named vice president.

Okey Leasure was appointed chairman of the maintenance drive committee.

Ed Oliver presided.

The next meeting will be Aug. 2.

Three More Ohioans Killed In Viet Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Navy man and two soldiers from Ohio were listed by the Defense Department Wednesday as killed in Vietnam.

They were: Army Pfc. Edward L. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Brown, Columbus; Army Pfc. Robert Vargo, son of Joseph Vargo Sr., Short Creek (Harrison County), and Navy Hospital Corp. 3.C. Michael B. Judd, son of Mrs. Cherry Dottore, Cleveland.

Warren City Employee Found Slain In Car

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Frank Parker, 33, a city sanitation employee, was found slain in the back seat of his car Wednesday night at the intersection of Brian Street and Niles Road.

Police said they had not yet determined whether Parker had been stabbed or shot. They said he had a gaping chest wound.

'Rent Strike' Reported In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A "rent strike" is on in a Negro section of Pittsburgh described by a civil rights spokesman as "nigger hell."

William Haden, president of the United Movement For Progress, said Wednesday 82 families in the Homewood-Brushton area would not pay rent until landlords clean up "rat-infested properties."

"And if they evict us, we'll move into other empty apartments, the courthouse and even Mayor Joseph Barr's home, if necessary," he said.

"We know there might be trouble," he said. "We're letting the chips fall where they may. How long do they expect us to live in nigger hell without someone trying to put out the flames," he said.

Haden put forth a slum housing rehabilitation program and called on the Greater Pittsburgh Board of Realtors for help.

The board said it will meet next week and discuss the proposals.

Haden's proposals included lower rent for sub-standard housing, a housing court for landlords and tenants to discuss problems and consolidation of the county health department and Bureau of Building Inspection.

Haden also said his group will ask insurance companies to revoke fire insurance in the area "because if these houses go up in smoke, we don't want slumlords to collect."

Youth Riots At Resorts Seen Likely To Spread

CHICAGO (AP) — The student and teen-ager riots that have become annual events at some of America's best known summer and winter resorts will continue and perhaps grow larger and spread to more places, a sociologist predicted today.

Bernard Beck, Ph.D., assistant professor of sociology at Northwestern University, said in an interview that these youths gather at places where they are unknown with the avowed purpose of breaking out of their ordinary routine.

"A lot of the public's concern is that college students were once looked upon as special kinds of people who were expected to act in a special way," Beck said.

"All that is changing," he added. "Teen-agers are coming to regard themselves as ordinary people and they want the same autonomy and freedom that is allowed others."

Although he said there is considerable difference in scale, he compared the student uprisings with the antics of some convention delegates who block traffic and play practical jokes on spectators, usually without interference from the police.

"What these kids are doing is like an outdoor sport for them," Beck said. "But they know the police are keeping a sharper eye on them. Because the police are more watchful and intervene sooner, resentment is triggered once that intervention occurs."

City Driver Cited Following Crash

A city youth was cited following a two-car crash in Wellsville Wednesday afternoon in which a Salineville woman and her 11-year-old son were injured slightly.

Treated at City Hospital were Coralee Thomas, 38, of 202 E. Main St. and her son David. Both were X-rayed and released.

Their 1966 sedan was involved in a wreck with a car operated by Terrence Pack, 18, of 2133 Michigan Ave. The accident occurred at 17th and Commerce Sts. about 1:10.

Pack was cited into Wellsville mayor's court for next Wednesday on a charge of reckless operation. Police say he failed to obey a stop sign.

Police Checking Unsolved Slaying

JEFFERSON, Ohio (AP) — A fingerprint check is being made to determine if a Pennsylvania man was involved in the unsolved slaying of a woman federal census taker near here almost a year ago.

Pennsylvania State Police said the man, Donald Brown, 23, of New Castle, Pa., is charged with two murders in Pennsylvania—the fatal stabbing of a Butler girl and the shooting death of an elderly man in Mercer County. He awaits trial in those slayings.

The body of Miss Lynda Moore, 20, of Warren, was found with her throat slashed in her car on a lonely road south of Jefferson last July 23.

Capt. Ray Fasula of the Ash-tabula County Sheriff's Department said it was learned that Brown was driving a bakery truck in this area about the time Miss Moore was slain, but that Brown has declined to be questioned in the case.

William Gillette, American actor noted for his portrayal of Sherlock Holmes in the early years of this century, had his home built with granite walls four to five feet thick at the base and hand-hewn oak interior trim. His estate is now a state park near Lyme, Conn.

Apollo 1 Wreckage Packed For Barge Trip To Virginia

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—The wreckage of Apollo 1, built with visions of rocketing three astronauts to the moon, was packed in cardboard boxes and plastic bags today for trip by slow barge to Virginia.

There it will be sealed in a silver container the size of two house trailers to remain in storage for 10 years.

The more than 1,000 packaged pieces of the ill-fated space vehicle leave Cape Kennedy next Wednesday aboard a flatbed trailer. They will then be hauled to an awaiting barge.

And six to eight days later Apollo 1 arrives at the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Langley Research Center at Hampton, Va.

For the next decade, it will remain under the custody of Dr. Floyd L. Thompson, director of Langley and head of the review board which investigated the Apollo 1 fire that killed Air Force Lt. Col. Virgil I. Grisom and Edward H. White II and Navy Lt. Cmdr. Roger B. Chaffee last Jan. 27.

Apollo 1's container—40 feet long, 24 feet wide and 19 feet tall—will have a pure nitrogen atmosphere to prevent its components from corroding, NASAS spokesmen said. The smaller pieces have been wrapped in nitrogen-filled plastic bags.

The container is made of steel, coated with aluminum. Three tiers of shelves for the boxes and bags line both sides and one end.

After arriving at Langley, the craft will be placed in a fenced-in area at the center's west end where NASA said it is to remain for 10 years.

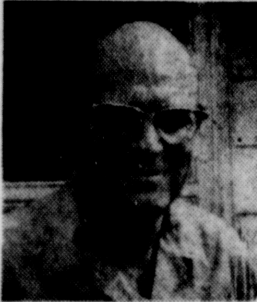

No decision has been made as to what happens to Apollo 1 after that.

Attending Seminar

YOUNGSTOWN — Judge John J. Lynch of the Seventh District Court of Appeals is attending the appellate judges' seminar at the New York University School of Law. He is one of 19 judges from 10 states awarded scholarships to the session by the National College of the State Trial Judges. The seminar will continue through July 13.

Climate of the French Riviera did not gain international fame until the 19th Century, the National Geographic says. Wealthy Englishmen escaping from fog and Russian noblemen fleeing blizzards were the first to arrive.

3 From Area Hospitalized

A Wellsville man hurt at work, a Canfield resident injured at Waterford Park and a city woman hurt in a fall were admitted Wednesday to City Hospital, where eight other area residents were treated.

Aaron's Three-Run Shot Sends Cubs Down By 4-2

Ruiz Sparks Reds' 2 To 1 Over Cards

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Hank Aaron is a superstar. He can afford to endure three walks before getting his swing.

Chico Ruiz is a supersub. He can't waste any time. Aaron bided his time Wednesday night as Chicago's Rick Nye pitched around him in his first three trips to the plate. The fourth time, Aaron unloaded a three-run homer that helped Atlanta drop the Cubs 4-2.

Ruiz, Cincinnati's expert on National League benches, pinch hit for Jim Maloney in the 10th inning and made the most of his one trip to the plate. He doubled, stole third and then raced home with the winning run on Nelson Briles' wild pitch as the Reds shaded St. Louis 2-1.

Chicago's third straight loss to Atlanta kept the Cubs one-half game back of St. Louis in the battle for the National League lead. In other games, Los Angeles topped Pittsburgh 5-3, San Francisco nipped New York 2-1 and Philadelphia edged Houston 3-2.

Nye, only a rookie, knew enough to studiously avoid Aaron's menacing bat the first three times the Braves' slugger came to the plate.

Locked in a scoreless duel with Atlanta's Ken Johnson, Nye got into a hole in the seventh when Woody Woodward singled and Mack Jones walked.

Chuck Hartenstein relieved, and Aaron's 21st home run of the year sailed into the left field seats. Felipe Alou doubled home another Atlanta run in the eighth and that was enough to stand off a last-ditch Chicago rally in the ninth.

The Cardinals and Reds were tied at 1-1 after nine innings when Ruiz, who does so much bench sitting that he brings along his own cushion, batted for Maloney.

Don Sutton scattered seven hits and struck out seven as the Dodgers defeated the Pirates. The victory ended a four-game Los Angeles slide.

Jim Lefebvre homered for the Dodgers, and Donn Clendenon connected for Pittsburgh.

Gaylord Perry saved Mike McCormick's 10th victory with 2-3 innings of airtight relief as the Giants shaded the Mets.

Hal Lanier drove in San Francisco's winning run with a two-out single in the seventh and then Perry bailed McCormick out of a jam by getting Tommy Davis to rap into an inning-ending double play in the bottom of the seventh.

Shoddy Houston fielding led to two of Philadelphia's three runs against the Astros as Rick Wise, with ninth-inning help from Dick Hall, won his third game.

Wise drove in a run with a fourth-inning single and successive errors on the hit by losing pitcher Mike Cuellar and Ed Mathews allowed another Philadelphia run to score.

Rusty Staub misplayed Bobby Wine's fifth-inning fly ball into a triple, leading to the Phillies' final run.

Tourney Slated To Begin Monday In HHHS League

Tournament play will begin Monday at the Hammondville diamond in the HHHS league, the Hammondville Red Sox having captured regular season honors with a 19-1 record.

Card Highlighted By Agin, Navarez

STEBENVILLE — Doug Agin of Steubenville and Frankie Navarez will clash in a 10-round lightweight bout at the Community Arena here July 22.

The winner is promised a shot at the title against Carlos Ortiz, according to Red Agin, promoter, and Don Elbaum, matchmaker.

There will be four preliminaries, with the first bout scheduled to begin at 8:30.

Tad Di Loreto of East Liverpool is to be one of the referees.

David Glasgow Farragut was the first admiral of the U.S. Navy, in 1866.

Litten's, Burbick's Post Victories In Pony League

Litten's turned back Woodbine, 6-4, and Burbick's blasted Sevy's, 17-3, in Pony League games Wednesday.

Jim Moore struck out 10 for Litten's in hurling the victory as Payne took the setback. McVay smacked a home run for Woodbine.

Burbick's poured across 11 runs in the second to put it out of reach for Sevy's who used six pitchers, five in the second in a vain effort to halt the upsurge. Tipton was the winning pitcher and McHenry the loser.

Leading the 16-hit attack against Sevy's were Rogers, Aaron, Lockhart, Robinson, Seever and Golden with two hits each. Cunningham collected two of the six Sevy safeties.

Parson's, Golden Star and Vernon Dell Win In LL

Parson's Coal, Golden Star and Vernon Dell registered Litte League victories in Wednesday's action.

Parson's downed Chester Legion, 11-5, behind Scott Stacy with Tony Smith taking the loss for Chester. Golden Star topped Veteran's Plate Glass, 8-4, with Keith LeMasters the winning hurler and Hanlon the loser.

Frank and Samples led Parson's with two hits each as Huffnicked Stacy for the only Legion safety.

LeMasters not only pitched his team to victory but was 3-for-3 at the plate including a two-run homer. Coplin and Talbott collected a pair of safeties apiece. Cheeks blasted a three-run homer for the losers.

Joe Henderson picked up the narrow 2-1 victory for Vernon Dell over Travelers Hotel with two runs in the sixth, the big blow a double by Henderson. Hissom lost it for Traveler's.

Two Players Ejected In O-O Soccer Game

DETROIT (AP)—Two players were ejected from the game as the Detroit Cougars and the Cleveland Stokers battled to a scoreless tie in a United Soccer Association game Wednesday night.

A crowd of 4,729 watched as Cougar center forward Danny Trainor exchanged blows with Bill Bentley, Cleveland's left fullback, with six minutes left in the game. Both were ejected from the game.

Cincinnati Is Awarded Spot In AFL

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group headed by Paul Brown has been awarded the Cincinnati franchise in the American Football League and Brown will coach the team, the Washington Post said in its Thursday edition.

The Post said a formal announcement will be made within a few days.

The paper said Brown is in the process of disposing of his stock in the Cleveland Browns of the National Football League, the team which he organized and coached until 1963.

Brown is believed to have about six per cent of the Cleveland stock, valued at $720,000, the paper said.

Four other groups made bids for the franchise which was allocated to Cincinnati by the AFL in May.

Brown has listed as others in his group his son Mike a Cleveland attorney and former official of the Cleveland Browns; John Sawyer, son of former Secretary of Commerce Charles Sawyer; Wayne Brown, a grocery magnate; and William C. Hackett, a former Ohio State football star.

Angels' Homers Top Red Sox In 4-3 Tilt

Chisox Edge Birds; Tribe 3 To 2 Loser

By RON RAPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer
The California Angels had a terrible time hitting the ball Wednesday night, but almost every time they did it went out of the park.

Of the four hits they were allowed by Boston pitchers Jim Lonborg and Jose Santiago, the Angels made three of them good for homers, including Don Mincher's two-run shot in the bottom of the ninth that won the game 4-3. Roger Repoz and Paul Schaal hit the other ones.

Only Jim Fregosi had the temerity to hit anything less than a homer, a mere single. It came just before Mincher's homer, however, so perhaps the Angels will forgive the transgression.

The Red Sox themselves were 2-for-5 in the slugging department, getting homers from Joe Foy and George Thomas and just three other hits, all of them singles.

In other American League action Wednesday night, Chicago edged Baltimore 3-2 in 11 innings, Minnesota bombed New York 10-4, Detroit shaded Cleveland 3-2 and Washington beat Kansas City 5-3.

In the top of the ninth at Anaheim, the Red Sox, who had been trailing all the way, threatened to pull it out. With two out Jerry Adair singled and Thomas, two-run shot put them ahead 3-2.

Lonborg had pitched beautifully for seven innings for the Sox, giving up but two hits in all that time. Unfortunately, both hits were homers, Repoz' third of the season in the first inning and Schaal's fifth in the third.

George Brunet, in the meantime, was doing just about as well for the Angels. He allowed just three hits until the ninth, including Foy's 12th homer in the fourth inning. Thomas' homer in the ninth almost turned him into a loser, but Mincher's blast off Santiago put the winning smile on his face.

Chicago and Baltimore fought to a standstill until Tommie Agee delivered a single with two out in the 11th, scoring Jim Stewart who ran for J. C. Martin who led off the inning with a single.

Mike Adamson, 19, started his first game for the Orioles, stopped the Sox on three hits in six innings, driving in one run and scoring another.

Dick Reese and Ted Uhlaender carried the big sticks for the Twins, knocking in seven runs between them. Reese had a three-run homer and a total of four RBI while Uhlaender had a two-run shot and three runs batted in. It was the Twins' eighth straight victory.

Roy Oyler squeezed in Mickey Stanley in the eighth with the winning Detroit run after Stanley drove in Norm Cash with a triple earlier in the inning. Tony Horton homered for the Red Sox.

German, Australian Eye Wimbledon Tennis Title

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Wilhelm Bungert, 28-year-old German tennis star, had no secrets today about the way he plans to beat Australia's John Newcombe and win the Wimbledon title.

The final is Friday — and Bungert hopes to become the first German to win the crown.

"I shall plan the final in the same way that I planned the semifinal against Britain's Roger Taylor Wednesday," Bungert said.

"I shall conserve my energy. I shall not tire myself by chasing balls that are going out of my reach. Often it's fitness in the last set that counts."

So it proved when Bungert lasted the pace better on Wimbledon's center court, before a 17,000 crowd, and defeated Taylor 6-4, 6-8, 2-6, 6-4, 6-4 in a two-hour, 20-minute battle.

Newcombe overcame Nikola Pilic of Yugoslavia 9-7, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4.

Bungert has played Newcombe half a dozen times without beating him. But he reckoned he has a good chance to do it this time.

Meanwhile, three Americans girls—Billie Jean Moffitt King, Kathy Horter and Rosemary Casals — were ready to go on to the center court today to battle out the semifinals in the women's singles.

Girl, 10, To Compete In Ladies Golf Event

BALTIMORE (AP) — The field in the $15,000 Lady Carling Open will include 10-year-old Beverly Klass, who had to win a dispute over child labor laws before she could enter the tournament.

Barred from entering Wednesday by Lennie Wirtz, tournament director of the Ladies Professional Golf Association, Beverly and her father, contractor Jack Klass of Woodland Hills, Calif., sought a ruling from the Maryland Department of Labor and Industry.

Deputy Commissioner William Welsh ruled that as an individual competitor, Beverly is self-employed.

Wirtz had rejected Beverly's entry on the grounds that it might be in violation of state child labor laws, which prevent employment of children less than 14 years old. She was reinstated after the ruling.

That decision got the pre-teen pro into the Lady Carling — her fourth tournament as a professional — but Wirtz and the LPGA are still trying to get her knocked off the pro tour.

The tournament director said recently that the woman professionals thought Beverly was too young for the tour. However, the present rules have no provisions for 10-year-old professionals, a status the California girl reached when she paid $50 extra to enter her first pro tournament in Dallas, Tex.

So the LPGA plans to change the rules.

Wirtz said Wednesday that he and the executive board had met and decided "that effective Monday July 10 our regulations will be changed to read that a professional entrant in the LPGA tournament must have reached her 18th birthday prior to the first round of the tournament."

Klass, who introduced his daughter to golf at the age of 4, doesn't believe the rule can be made retroactive to include Beverly. A building contractor, Klass said he made Beverly a professional to give her a chance to play during her summer vacation. He said the age limit to play on public courses in California is 14 and that Beverly was resented by older amateurs.

The dark-haired, bespectacled girl averaged 91 in four rounds in the Civitan Open in Dallas in May and 86 at a St. Louis tournament three weeks later.

Cubs Still Miss Only Unbeaten Hurler In NL

FT. POLK, La., (AP) — The Chicago Cubs are sizzling but they still miss the only undefeated pitcher in the National League.

And Pvt. Ken Holtzman misses the Cubs and his hair. "Aaahh-h-h, that's the worst thing about it," ruefully laughed Holtzman, who took a perfect 5-0 record into six months of National Guard training May 22. "I had such nice hair."

Holtzman said in an interview he hopes to get back his Cub uniform—if not his hair—before summer's end.

Holtzman goes to Ft. Sam Houston, near San Antonio, Tex., July 21 for Army medical training.

"That'll be right in the middle of the baseball season, just after the All-Star Game," said the talented left-hander.

"Maybe I can get in a few good (pitching) weekends. I hear you get weekend passes."

"But I'd need a week of practice, pitching an hour or two every other day. I don't want to hurt my arm. I'm in perfect shape now, but you need that pin-point control that comes from practice."

"I haven't picked up a ball in six weeks. All I've been picking up is hand grenades."

It's unlikely Leo Durocher, Cub manager who regards Holtzman with the keen admiration he had for another great rookie, Willie Mays, would chance injuring an unconditioned Holtzman regardless of pennant prospects.

Holtzman has taken Army training in stride, so to speak. "I can't say that I love the Army," Holtzman commented. "But I can say it's good for a guy. I appreciate the discipline—I was a kind of high liver, myself, and they've straightened me out."

His company commander, shying from identification, said Holtzman gets no special favors. "Holtzman is no prima donna," the officer said. "He's treated like any other trainee. And because of the leadership qualities he showed, his platoon sergeant promoted him to squad leader. Ken's a good man."

Bauer Says Chisox Winning Like Orioles Did Last Year

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox keep chugging along in first place of the American League and Hank Bauer, manager of world champion Baltimore, says it's because they're doing what the Orioles did last year, except hitting.

"The Sox may not hit much but they usually get the timely hit or somebody comes up with the big play in the field," says Bauer, whose Orioles are sagging in seventh place with pitching failure, inconsistent hitting and erratic fielding.

"The Sox are winning much like we did last year. Breaks are going their way. They're taking the close ones. And if you make a mistake against them, they jump down your throat. And what really galls you is that they keep doing it with reserves coming off the bench."

The Sox broke a hex of losing five straight extra-inning games Wednesday night by taking the Orioles 3-2 in the 11th. Tommie Agee, who received his official 1966 Rookie-of-the-Year award in ceremonies prior to the game, slapped a two-out, bases-filled single for his only hit of the game to end it.

It's shades of 1959, their last pennant year, for the Sox. In that season they won 37 one-run games. They already have squeezed out 21 one-run victories while losing 13 by the same margin.

Their team batting mark is not even up to 240 but the pitching corps' earned run average is a sensational 2.28.

6 Pennsylvania Neighbors Click At Race Tracks

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Pennsylvania's six neighboring states received $134.8 million in revenue last year from thoroughbred horse racing, the subject of proposed legislation in the General Assembly.

The revenue figures became available as lawmakers sought to determine whether it would be worthwhile financially to legalize flat racing. Harness racing was legalized here in 1959.

New York, the country's No. 1 racing state, netted $77.6 million from 360 days of thoroughbred racing, topping Pennsylvania's other neighbors by a big margin. Figures for other border states:

New Jersey, $27 million, 168 days; Ohio, $9.5 million, 395 days; Maryland, $9.5 million, 152 days; West Virginia, $8.1 million, 485 days; Delaware, $3.5 million, 55 days. The average was $22.5 million.

Lawmakers disagree as to the amount of revenue Pennsylvania could expect. Estimates have ranged between $15 million and $50 million, with proponents usually quoting the higher figure and opponents the lower one.

Tri-State, Pusateri's Win In Minor League

Tri-State and Pusateri's racked up victories Wednesday in the Minor League.

Bill Campbell Wins W. Va. Golf Crown

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP) — Bill Campbell won the West Virginia Amateur Golf tournament by four strokes but to hear him tell it "every shot was a crisis."

The 44-year-old Campbell, who annexed the amateur crown for the ninth time since he started playing in the tournament 31 years ago, fired a par 70 Wednesday to finish with a 72-hole total of 287.

Closest to him was 24-year-old Fred Barnes Jr. of Huntington, who fired a 71 on the final 18 holes for a four-day score of 291. One stroke behind Barnes was third-round leader Jim Ward of Huntington who soared to a 77 Wednesday.

Campbell didn't credit his victory on things like a 60-foot putt or five birdies Wednesday, which equaled his total for the first three rounds.

Rather, he said he won because "Jim Ward had some bad luck."

Ward's bad luck included three-putt greens, an unplayable lie which cost a one-stroke penalty and a few double-bogeys.

Elimination Tourney Snubbed By New York

NEW YORK (AP) — The already confused heavyweight boxing situation has become even more muddled with the New York State Athletic Commission's announcement that it would not recognize the winner of the elimination tournament being staged by the World Boxing Association.

Edward B. Dooley, chairman of the New York commission said Wednesday that the list of fighters in the WBA tournament to pick a successor to Cassius Clay didn't include such top names as Joe Frazier, George Chuvalo and former champion Floyd Patterson.

Casper Has Respect For Changed Course

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Billy Casper opened defense of his Speedway Open Golf Championship today with a fine respect for the remodeled course.

"The golf course is a thousand per cent better than last year," Casper said after shooting a 1-over-par 73 in a pro-amateur meet Wednesday. "It plays extremely long. It appears it will be difficult to score."

The Speedway course, all new last year, has been altered extensively to meet specific objections raised by players after the 1966 tournament.

WE FINALLY REALIZED THAT HOGAN AND THE TWO REAL MONKS WERE NOT DISCUSSING NUCLEAR SECRETS IN THEIR THREE-MAN CELL.

HOGAN WAS REPORTING ONLY DATA WE ALREADY HAD —

THEY WERE ACTUALLY TEACHING EACH OTHER THEIR NATIVE GREEK, GERMAN AND ENGLISH TO PASS THE TIME!

THE ATOMIC EXPERT TOLD HOGAN JUST ENOUGH TO RELAY TO US SO THEY COULD STAY TOGETHER AND ATTEMPT A BREAK-OUT!

BY MIXING THEIR THREE LANGUAGES THEY HAD A MOST EFFECTIVE CODE... WE TRULY DID NOT SUSPECT AN ESCAPE PLOT!

WE MUST HAVE HOGAN BACK BECAUSE HE WILL KNOW REAL SECRETS — WE HAVE LOST FACE!

Junior Editors Quiz on LICHENS

lichen has many shapes

FUNGUS ALGA

CLOSEUP OF LICHEN ON THE ROCK

QUESTION: Why is a lichen gray in color?

ANSWER: Lichens are remarkable interesting little plants and it will pay you to get a small magnifying glass, such as Fred is using in our drawing, and look closely at any lichens you may find. Likely to be whitish or gray, they are quite different from other plants which are usually green. They do not have leaves, stems or roots, and often grow on rocks, where one wonders how they can get water or food. A lichen is not just one plant—it is a combination of green algae, minute plants which can make food like other green plants can, and fungi, which have no green coloring matter, and live on other plants or animals. In a lichen, the fungus on top (cross-section, upper right) absorbs moisture from the air, while the algae, under the fungus, makes the food. The green of the algae, showing faintly through the whitish fungus layer, makes the lichen look grayish green. Lichens help make soil, because they secrete an acid which can break down the structure of rock. Although they don't have true leaves, many lichen have leaf-like extensions which are called thalli.

Margaret Parkinson of Rockhill, S. C., wins today's combined prize of Compton's Illustrated Science Dictionary plus $10 cash for this question. Mail yours on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of The Review.
